City And County Voters To Ballot On Officials Tuesday

GOVERNOR GIVES PLAN

oters To Select City And County Officers Tuesday

ief Interest In Election Is Campaign Of Independents In County

ITTLE CONTEST FOR SOME OF OFFICES

olls Open From 7 To 7—Voters Must Tear Off Corner Of Ballot

With party lines considerably dented, Lawrence County voters will go to the polls Tuesday, November 3 to elect two County commissioners, a county treasurer, a prothonotary and clerk of courts, a coroner, a county controller, a county surveyor, and various township and precinct officers. In the City of New Castle the voters will elect a mayor, two councilmen, a city treasurer, four school directors and minor offices in the wards. In the state at large, James B. Drew has three party nominations for Supreme Court, this being the only State election.

In the past three weeks some bitter strife inside the Republican anks has developed, resulting in ndependent candidates for comissioner and controller and these ights will probably mean a split icket and a lot of work for the elecion officers.

The voter who wishes to record straight party vote will find a quare for that purpose in the upper left hand corner of the ballot. A cross placed in one of these oxes means that the voter is casting his ballot for all the candidates n that ticket.

Tuesday being a legal holiday because of the election, the banks of the city will remain closed tomorrow. The law relative to this action states that saloons and banks shall remain closed on election day. However, there being no saloons, the banks alone will observe the occasion.

Do your duty as a citizen on Tuesday—vote!

When voters march to the polls tomorrow some will find new voting booths set up for them to use. In a few of the downtown precincts the old equipment has been replaced with new supplies.

What did you imagine that shrieking whistle late Saturday night to mean? Pa Newc found this morning that a majority guessed right—it was a railroad locomotive whistle doing a marathon. B. and O. men said the whistle on a switch engine "just stuck."

Pa Newc believes that the city's Hallowe'en celebration passed off without a great amount of damage to property. In some places, however marks of more or less destructive rowdyism stood out plain on Sunday morning. But as a whole the merrymakers limited their fun to annoyances of a minor kind.

CONVICTED KILLER AT WILKES-BARRE ESCAPES

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 2—Wilfred Flood, convicted killer who has been saved from the elected chair six times by last minute respites, today sawed his way through the bars of a window in the county jail here and made a successful break for freedom.

With Flood went Raymond Schutt acquitted in connection with the murder of Al Janetti, Philadelphia and Wilkes-Barre fight promoter.

State police from the Wyoming barracks immediately began a hunt for the fugitives, believed to have been aided by an accomplice in their escape.

Thomas Ayres, jail guard, reported both men were apparently asleep when he made his rounds at 11 o'clock last night. On his next tour, several hours later, both cells were vacant and the doors were open.

Jail authorities believe the pair opened the doors with a key, made their way through the jail yard and forced the lock on the gates.

Former Governor Fisher And Senator Davis To Speak Here Wednesday

Wednesday evening the big get-together meeting of the members of the New Castle Consistory will be held at the Cathedral on Lincoln avenue, when some of the most prominent members of the organization will be present and from indications a large crowd will be on hand.

The principal speakers of the evening will be U. S. Senator James J. Davis and ex-Gov. John S. Fisher of Indiana. Both are members of the New Castle Consistory and being popular with the membership will be greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience.

At 6:30 o'clock a banquet will be served in the dining room which will be attended by all present. Following the banquet there will be an entertainment followed by the addresses.

The meeting has been called by the officers of the New Castle Consistory for the purpose of giving the membership an opportunity to learn what has been done by the board of directors of the Cathedral association.

The New Castle Consistory has nearly 8,000 members, many of whom are not in a position to know of the good work accomplished by the Cathedral association and this means has been taken to acquaint them with its activities.

It is believed that the meeting Wednesday evening will create greater interest in the New Castle Consistory and that great good will result from the gathering. The membership of the Consistory is most loyal to the Cathedral association board and will not fail in backing up its program. This has been the action in the past and will no doubt be followed in the future.

Ralph Capone Loses Appeal

Brother Of Al Capone Is Denied Petition For Review Of Case

PRISON DOORS CLOSE ON HIM AS RESULT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Supreme Court today ordered prison doors closed on Ralph J. Capone, brother of "Scarface Al" Capone of Chicago when it denied his petition for review of his conviction for falsifying his income tax report.

In its indictment of Capone the government charged him with making false statements in a letter to the commissioner of internal revenue offering to compromise his tax liability for the years 1922 to 1925 inclusive. He admitted owing $4,082 and offered to compromise for $1,000.

Giving his occupation as a gambler he said he had sustained huge losses and his only property was one-half interest in two race horses. The government claimed that he

Two Die From Auto Mishaps

Grove City-Harrisville Road Scene Of Two Fatal Accidents

BROKEN NECKS CAUSE OF DEATHS

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Nov. 2. — Two deaths occurred here within 24 hours of each other as a result of auto mishaps on the Grove City-Harrisville road, Butler county, near the Mercer county line, over the week-end. Two others are in Bashline-Rossman hospital here recovering from broken noses and bruises. Both deaths resulted from broken necks.

The dead:

Ludwig Sex, 22, Grove City railroad laborer.

Dale Beighley, three years, Grove City orphan.

The injured:

Joseph Piberia, 43, railroad laborer, of Branchton, Pa.

Patsy Piberia, 47, railroad laborer of Branchton, Pa.

Sex was killed at midnight Sunday when the car in which he was driving the Piberia brothers to their Branchton, Pa., home hit a culvert on the Grove City-Harrisville road.

The Piberia brothers are being treated for broken noses and other injuries at the hospital.

Dale Beighley, an orphan, who made his home with his grandparents in Grove City, was killed on the same road and died from a broken neck after being struck, police say, by a car driven by Catherine Sample of Evans City, Saturday night.

A coroner's jury absolved the woman driver from blame by returning a verdict of unavoidable death.

Ludwig Sex lived on Center street, Grove City, with a brother, Conrad. Parents of the brothers are now residing in Stroudsburg, Germany. The Sex boys had been living in this country 10 years. Ludwig's funeral will take place Wednesday morning.

Peter De Santis Seven-Years Old, Kills His Sister Due To "Teasing"

CALMLY RE-ENACTS SCENE FOR POLICE

Utica, N. Y., Officials Undetermined What To Do With Boy Due To His Age

(International News Service)

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 2.— Seven-year old Peter De Santis unconcernedly ate his breakfast in the house of detention today. To any one who asked him, he would tell just how he shot and killed his sister, Gloria, aged 4, "Because she teased me."

Peter was held on a murder charge, but because of his youth, State troopers were uncertain what disposition to make of the case.

"Gloria teased me a lot and dirtied my school book," Peter told officials.

Score Re-Enacted

"It's Gloria's fault, she shouldn't have done it."

He re-enacted the scene of taking down the double barreled shotgun "when Gloria wouldn't be good," loading it, holding it against the little girl's dress and "pulling the trigger like my Dad showed me before going away."

He was knocked down by the recoil.

"When I jumped up, Gloria was all red," he said. "Red with blood. Then Mama came home and started to cry."

Patsy De Santis, the boy's father, is serving a sentence in Atlanta penitentiary for owning a still.

Report Sections Of Huge Aqueduct Have Been Broken

Two Large Sections Of Los Angeles Channel Of Water Supply Damaged

DYNAMITE WAS BELIEVED USED

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—Two large sections of the Los Angeles adqueduct, the city's principal channel of water supply, were destroyed today presumably by dynamite, in a renewed outbreak of the bitter controversy between the city of Los Angeles and Owens Valley ranchers over the water rights in the valley.

The great 12-foot steel pipe was broken at the top of a siphon, where the aqueduct emerges from a tunnel and at another point at the bottom, where the pipe is nine feet in diameter.

Details Are Meagre

H. A. Van Norman, general manager of the water and power department, who received the report said the full extent of the damage had not been given in the first report, as told to him.

The dynamiting was discovered by A. F. Power and J. S. Moore, patrolmen on the pipe line, and reported at once to Van Norman and the sheriff's office here.

The break was 100 miles from Los Angeles in an inaccessible mountain region.

Crews of workmen were hastily mobilized to repair the breaks.

WITNESS IN TRUNK MURDER CASE IN WEST

Evelyn Nace (above), a physician's secretary at Phoenix, Ariz., is believed to have been the last person to see Hedvig Samuelson and Agnes Leroi, trunk murder victims, alive. Local Student Hurt In Crash Fatal To Girl

James Remley, Indiana State Teachers College Student, Recovering

DAUGHTER OF DEAN ONE OF INJURED

James Remley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Remley of 1029 East Washington street, is recovering in the Indiana, Pa., hospital of injuries received Friday night when the machine in which he was riding left the highway between Indiana and Blairsville and crashed into a cement wall.

Miss Judy Roessing of Meadville, Pa., another occupant of the machine, died Sunday morning of injuries sustained in the same accident, while Miss Mary Frances Walsh, daughter of Dean and Mrs. M. J. Walsh, was critically injured. Miss Roessing was a sister of Prof. George Roessing, an instructor in Allegheny college at Meadville.

The three students had attended a party in Indiana at the home of Dean Walsh, and had gone to Blairsville to take another student to his home. The accident occurred as the party was enroute back to Indiana.

The cause of the accident has not yet been learned, but is believed to have been due to the slippery condition of the road. Remley suffered possible fracture of the nose and contusions about the head, the end of his nose being almost severed.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Remley, with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Remley and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brest visited him Sunday in the the Indiana hospital, and report that he is getting along as well as can be expected. The parents remained with him over the night.

To Election Boards

Tuesday is election day.

City and county officials are to be elected.

The News is appreciative of the aid extended by the election boards in the city and county at the recent primary election, in making early returns of the result of the count in the precinct. Many of the boards gave splendid co-operation, and in this way aided in providing an early report of the election result.

It is the request of The News that the co-operation be extended again on Tuesday night.

As soon as any final results are available for any city or county contest in the precinct, election board officials are asked to make them known at once to The News.

Call 4000.

Reminder is also given to all election boards that the law requires a report of the votes cast to be posted on the outside of the polling place, when the count is completed.

U. S. ARMY ENGINEER HERE ON CANAL PROJECT

For the purpose of interviewing city officials as to what they intended to do in the way of docking and terminal facilities in the event the proposed slack water canal is put through on the Beaver and Mahoning Rivers, E. H. Beechley of the United States Army Engineer Corps was in the city today. Edward Beadel, who has been active in the work of getting the canal through was with Mr. Beechley during his stay here.

In his interview with council, Mr. Beechley stated that it would be necessary for the City of New Castle to indicate what is would do in the matter of docking and terminal facilities. If the canal were built there would have to be such a dock where shippers could load and unload their goods and this dock would have to be back from the canal lines.

MANY UNUSUAL TIE-UPS IN PITTSBURGH ELECTION

Final Stage Of Hectic Campaign In Pittsburgh Is Reached

County Commissioner Battle Is Centre Of Most Attention By Voters

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—Joined in almost incomprehensible tie-ups, and almost hopelessly disorganized in several quarters, Allegheny county's political leaders today swung into their final short period of campaigning before the general election tomorrow.

David L. Lawrence, reputedly the Democratic candidate for county commissioner, is receiving the support of such well-known Republican leaders as Joseph G. Armstrong, head of the county organization, and State Senator James J. Coyne, who with Mayor Charles H. Kline is said to hold the city organization in his grasp.

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, who with Senator William D. Mansfield, is the Republican candidate, is lending support to former Senator C. M. Barr, his running mate on the Independent and Square Deal tickets.

Lima Bean In Throat Kills Florida Girl

Father Rushes Young Daughter To Philadelphia, But Operation Is Unsuccessful

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The 1500-mile race of an Orlando, Fla., father against the looming death of his three and a half year old daughter, was ended here today with the Grim Reaper the victor. All the modern methods of travel, and the most modern method of bronchoscopy, failed to save the life of the child, Marjorie Cohen.

The child swallowed a lima bean on Saturday at her home. The bean lodged in her throat and water caused it to swell clogging up her wind pipe. The grim race with death started, with the father, J. B. Cohen, holding his choking, gasping child as the miles sped by, by raidroad, fast motor car, and finally by airplane, in his effort to reach the Jefferson Hospital Bronchoscopic Clinic here in time to save the little girl's life.

Marjorie was still alive on arrival here, but she succumbed three hours after the operation was performed.

HUNTING SEASON GETS UNDER WAY

Many Sportsmen Take To Fields As Ideal Hunting Weather Prevails

Local hunters took to the fields early this morning as the annual small-game season got under way, and close to the city, guns could be heard popping soon after daylight.

Game authorities state that game is plentiful this year and with ideal hunting weather prevailing today, a record kill will probably be recorded.

The ground is damp enough to make trailing good for the dogs, and with many more having leisure time this year than before, the first day of the season will be taken advantage of by more hunters than customary.

Hunters should be more cautious this year because of the fact that more hunters are in the field, and should make sure they see their quarry before firing.

State Legislators Hear Proposals For Relief To Come In Special Session

FIFTEEN BILLS TO BE REVIEWED

May Place Extra Tax On Gasoline And Cigarettes To Obtain Increased Revenue

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Nov. 2.—Definite proposals of Gov. Gifford Pinchot by which he hopes to strike at the roots of unemployment and distress in Pennsylvania were placed before members of both houses of the legislature today in the executive's formal summons to convene in extraordinary session at the Capitol on Monday, November 9.

Fifteen subdivisions are listed in the Governor's program but all are limited to the relief of distress caused by present economic conditions. Many of the remedial measures proposed are broad in scope and, hitherto, many of them have not been mentioned as possibilities of debate in legislative chambers.

Five Are Killed In Plane Crash

Five Seattle, Washington, Men, Killed When Plane Falls And Burns

HAD BEEN ON HUNTING TRIP

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 2.—Five men were dead today as the result of an airplane crash in the Cascade Mountains, two miles west of the Summit of Snoqualmie Pass. The men, all of Seattle, were returning from a hunting trip in Eastern Washington when the accident occurred. The victims were burned beyond recognition when the plane burst into flames when it struck.

The dead: John Blum, pilot of the plane; Dr. Russell J. McCurdy, president of the King County Medical Society; Arthur D. Hoge, president of the Hoge Piston and Ring Company; Ray Sutherland and Harold De Spain, salesmen.

The charred skeleton of a dog was also found in the ruins of the plane.

I like to garb myself in style, at least in shirts and suits and hats, but never yet have I attained the dignity of cane and spats. They have an air, they radiate a spirit of the most elite, and set a fellow off, no end, when he attires to walk the street. But spats and cane have thus far been, with me a subject most taboo, I haven't dared to wear them yet, and let me mention, so have you. They may be smart and very chic, they may be just the thing, but say, the neighbors would rise up and shout, it's cooler, fifty one today.

Mongols Enter Manchuria And Combine Forces

Report 1,000 Mongolian Soldiers Have Swept Into Manchuria For Battle

CONCENTRATE FOR ATTACK

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, By International News Service)

MUKDEN, Nov. 2.—More than 1,000 Mongolian soldiers, have swept into Manchuria and are concentrating near Hailar on the Chinese eastern railway, according to information reaching Japanese military headquarters here today.

The Japanese reports also said that Mongol forces were joining the Hei-Lungkiang provincial troops of General Ma Tsan,Shan, Chinese military commander at Tsitsihar.

May Attack Consolate

The latest previous advices to Japanese authorities here from Tsitsihar indicated that General Ma was making preparations to hold the city against any possible attack, and was threatening to seize the Japanese consulate.

Messages describing the Mongol troops movement west of Tsitsihar said the Mongolians had gathered sixteen miles southwest of Hailar, having advanced approximately 100 miles into Manchurian territory.

PINCHOT GIVES RELIEF PROGRAM TO LEGISLATORS

from the tone of his proclamation which declared "the right to work for a living is part of the right to live," and that the Commonwealth's first duty is to safeguard and to secure "the lives, the liberties and the happiness" of the citizens of the state.

When the legislature convenes in special session here next Monday it will be compelled to limit its bill enactment to the fifteen subjects which the governor specified as needing attention.

Issuance of the governor's official proclamation calling the legislature into session revealed that he had abandoned several of the plans which previously had been considered.

Gone entirely was the original proposal for issuance of "prosperity bonds" and in its place was substituted a two cent additional tax on each gallon of gasoline sold for the next two years and taxes on cigarettes and billboards. Upon those three revenue raising measures the governor will depend for financing his elaborate "made work" and direct aid plan.

Emergency Loans.

Balked by the constitutional provisions which prohibits the expenditure of state money to feed and house the unemployed, the governor proposed instead that the municipal subdivisions of the state government be empowered to negotiate emergency loans. Such municipal subdivisions also would be empowered to float loans "to meet deficiencies in current operating expenses."

The only constitutional amendment which the governor's plan included was the proposal to authorize the state government to repay one half of the total sum which any municipal subdivision expends for poor relief during 1932.

The governor's new plan proposes issuance of bonds to finance such relief only after the constitutional amendment shall have been approved in the manner prescribed in the original instrument of the state government. Should the proposal pass the special session of the legislature it also must again be approved in the regular session of 1933 and then be submitted to popular vote at a state wide election.

In addition to the proposal that municipal subdivisions be empowered to float loans for "emergency relief" the governor also asks the legislature to give them the power to levy taxes and expend money for unemployment relief. Under that plan, cities, counties, boroughs and poor districts could levy taxes solely to feed and house those who are unemployed.

Postpone Tax Sales.

Another of the governor's proposals would permit local authorities, "under certain conditions to postpone tax sales during the periods of economic depression and unemployment."

The governor also proposes amendments to the general appropriations act passed by the last session of the legislature to increase the amounts allocated to various branches of the state government which would permit greater expenditures for public improvements from current receipts. Included in that plan is the specific proposal that the unencumbered balance of the $1,500,000 appropriation for the Pymatuning dam be used for road and other work incident to completion of the dam.

The legislature also will be asked to authorize transfer of money from the general fund to the motor license fund so that even greater expenditures may be made at once upon the rural roads. The motor license fund now has a balance in excess of $7,000,000.

One of the governor's plans mentions "cooperation with other states in taking measures to rehabilitate the bituminous coal industry." What plans the governor has in mind are not mentioned in the proclamation.

Would Tax Billboards.

An additional two cent tax on gasoline would net normally about $20,000,000 a year unless the increased taxation reduced consumption. A five cent tax on gasoline at the present time would be more than one third of its total cost per gallon to the motorists.

Cigarettes now carry a federal tax almost one half the total retail price. The governor did not specify the additional tax which he proposes to place upon them.

Proposals to tax billboards have been submitted at every recent session of the legislature but seldom have emerged from committee. The governor proposes not only a tax on the billboards but also on "the business of outdoor advertising."

The George Washington Bicentennial Commission is looking for "a perfect George Washington" for the part in a pageant in June. Perhaps Senator Borah is waiting to be asked.—The Springfield (Mass.) Union.

Our public corporations have reduced their expenses by laying off men and reducing wages of others, but the public who supports these corporations who have been given a monopoly in their line of work have not received any reductions in any of the different services rendered by these companies, and some of them even ask an increase in their rates.

Resdents of the outskirts of the city realized almost at the break of dawn that the rabbit hunting season was on once again. Many reports of shotguns were heard early this morning, indicating that the slaughter of the bunnies was on once more.

Just a year ago Saturday the first big snowfall of the season occurred almost an inch and a half of snow falling. The sun came out during the morning and melted it away, however. Thiel and W. and J. played football here that day.

Industries using the canal would naturally have their own docking facilities but there must also be a municipal dock. This dock must be set back far enough from the canal line to permit two lines of traffic to pass uninterruptedly.

Premier Laval Back In France

French Statesman And Daughter Land At Le Havre From Ocean Trip

LEAVES AT ONCE FOR PARIS HOME

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LE HAVRE, France, Nov. 2.—Premier Pierre Laval of France, returning to Paris from his visit to President Hoover in Washington, landed here at 10:32 A. M. today from the Steamship Ile De France from New York.

Municipal officials, including the mayor, greeted Laval at the pier, but the ceremonies lasted only a few minutes, the Premier and his official party taking a train immediately for Paris, where he is due early this afternoon.

The Premier's smiling daughter, Mlle. Josee, also received an enthusiastic greeting from a crowd of girl friends, who had come up from Paris, anxious to hear her impressions of Amrica.

mittee Saturday, announced that he was solidly behind the "straight Republican ticket". Yet, as political observers point out, many of his closest friends and lieutenants are openly working for Mansfield and Lawrence.

Mayor Charles Kline likewise placed himself on record as favoring the entire Republican slate, but it is pointed out, his chief lieutenant Senator Coyne, is advocating the tie-up between Mansfield and Lawrence.

Reports from many quarters have linked W. L. Mellon, Republican state chairman, with the reported alliance between Lawrence and the Republican leaders. Persons close to the Republican leadership in the state have, however, discounted this reported alliance.

Many last minute switches and alliances are expected to muddle even more yet the distorted complexion of the Allegheny county political situation.

Fugitive From Rockview Taken In Gun Battle

Frank Clark, 27, Escaped Rockview Prisoner, Puts Up Gun Fight With Officers

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 2.—Police today held Frank Clark, 27, who fled from the Rockview state prison farm on October 20, following a gun battle near here late Saturday night when Clark's hiding place was disclosed to local authorities.

Police were "tipped" that Clark was hiding in a chicken coop at a farm about two miles north of here and went to seize the fugitive. As they approached Deputy Sheriff Carl White saw Clark walk from the farmhouse and jump from a porch.

Calling on Clark to surrender, White was answered by a shot from the fugitive and returned the fire. After several rounds Clark surrendered. Police said Clark, who was sentenced to serve from 1½ to three years in the penitentiary for transportation of stolen goods, admitted robbing stores at Jefferson and Khedive since he fled from the prison farm.

MRS. T. W. PHILLIPS HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

A social event of much interest to many in this vicinity occurred Saturday evening when approximately 150 friends and relatives gathered at a reception in the home of Mrs. T. W. Phillips, Highland avenue for the purpose of helping celebrate her 87th birthday anniversary.

Ae reception from 8 to 10 o'clock featured the occasion when friends called to extend their congratulations. It being an October event, the house was beautifully adorned with fall flowers, pumpkins, etc., thus lending a real Autumnal atmosphere. A dainty collation with appointments further expressing the season, was served each guest.

The Reading Circle, First Christian church and the many other organizations in which Mrs. Phillips takes a keen interest, were well represented at this affair. Numerous floral pieces were received by the honored one in memoration of the day, and also telephone messages, cards and telegrams were received. Those notes of congratulations received from a distance were from Boston, Mass., Orlando, Fla., and one from Dr. Mary Langdon, of India.

Mrs. Phillips is quite active in her social interests as well as duties about the home, and at present is in good health.

Hallowe'en Party

Members of the D. A. R. will hold their regular meeting on Saturday, November 7 at the home of Miss Jennie Morgan on Grant street. This will mark their regular session, and the usual routine will be carried out.

Eentertains For Nephews

Miss Lela Patterson entertained for her two nephews, Bobby and Jack Patterson in her home on Alien street Friday evening at a masquerade party. The evening hours were made interesting with a program of games, contests and various stunts. The prize for the best costume worn at this gathering was presented to James Patterson. Other prizes went to Ethel Horton, Billy Hege, Dick Hites and Bobbie Patterson.

About the beautifully decorated dining room table, where novelties of the season were used, the guests were given their places and served a tasty lunch. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George A. Patterson and Marian Jean Patterson.

Returns To Colorado

Scott J. Shaw of Grand Junction, Colorado, who has been visiting in this vicinity for the past week has begun the return trip to his home. He visited with his sister, Mrs. John Fisher of Grove City: another sister, Mrs. Margaret Quigley of Scott township and a brother, Hoyt Shaw of Hickory township.

Mr. Shaw has not been in New Castle for sixteen years and he was surprised at the many changes in the city, saying he hardly recognized the place when he stepped off the train.

Class To Dine

Members of the J. G. Clements class of the Epworth Methodist church will have a tureen dinner for the members Tuesday evening, November 3, in the church dining room and an elegant program of entertainment has been provided for the after dinner hours.

JOLLIKOUSINS CLUB MASQUERADE SUCCESS

Rock Springs pavilion was the scene of a joyous event when members of the Jollikousins club entertained Friday evening at a masquerade with their husbands and friends as guests.

Twenty couples participated, and each one had a stunt to perform which caused much amusement. Mrs. Florence DePuy as the fortune teller caused a riot of fun with the odd futures she read for the guests assembled. Round and square dancing filled in the hours, with Joe DePuy furnishing the music. Also, 500 was featured.

Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Mrs. Goldie Reardon and Harry McCaslin. The ball was appropriately decorated in the Hallowe'en colors and novelties.

At a suitable hour, a committee comprising Mrs. Florence DePuy, Geraldine McClelland, Mrs. Helena Gribble, Mrs. Grace Houk and Goldie Reardon, served a tempting lunch.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" —bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

TREND IS UPWARD!

ECONOMISTS who have been saying that business would be definitely on the upturn for several months before the new trend was recognized by the public have based this prediction on the history of all previous solstices in business.

Indications are that the upward trend has set in in many lines, which in turn will pass increased prosperity on to other businesses and industries. So quietly has the face-about been made, however, that many persons are not yet conscious of the betterment.

Bank failures in the nation are steadily declining, indicating a more healthy condition of the financial institutions which are the nerve center of all commercial and industrial activities. The weak have about been eliminated and those surviving are the stronger for it.

Industrial operations in many lines are showing gains in employment and output for the first time in two years. This is a trend that is bound to gain in momentum. Stocks of manufacturers of all kinds are at the lowest level in 15 years or longer and will not long remain at this abnormal ebb.

Readjustment and liquidation are nearing completion if that point has not already been touched. The worst is over. The upward swing is under way!

MALE MORE SUICIDAL

The male of the human species is more deadly than the female in the matter of self-destruction, according to a statistical bulletin of a large life insurance company. Iw you are a man you are many times more liable to end your life by your own hand than a woman is to take the same rash liberties with her own vital spark, if that is anything to cheer you up.

Between the ages of 15 and 19 female suicides are more than two and a half times as many as those among males, but beyond that age man's grudge against himself is increasingly fatal and he carries the lead to the bitter end. After the age of 65 about seven times as many men as women make the sorry finish that proves them to be cowards.

There is honor for women in these figures. They are shown to be of firmer courage at every age except the years in which they are most impressionable. No reasons for the taking of their own lives by either men or women are given but the figures give bases for guesses. One can envisage the young girl being prompted by a blasted love romance, lack of employment or shame. As she passes the dividing line between extreme youth and maturity she enters the period wherein she possibly is happily married, satisfactorily employed or has acquired the judgment that steers her away from possible causes of self-destruction or deters her from the deed even in the face of what might have prompted her to act differently at an earlier age.

The ages at which male suicides far outnumber those of female, from 55 on, indicate that lack of health and the difficulty of making headway against the trials of failing business or lack of employment may be causes of self-destruction. The strength of both men and women begins to lessen at about 45 and it is to the credit of women that they have more courage to bear the onslaughts of nature than men have.

A FIRE DANGER

The vernal impulse to burn brushwood and dead grass makes work for fire departments and neighborhood bucket brigades. Every community has its annual scare from blazes of this sort and is fortunate if it escapes without serious damage. Yet it is futile to preach caution, as he who starts the fire is always quite sure that it will not get out of control. It will be a long time before this hazard can be crossed off the list by fire prevention committees.

While brush fires carefully guarded are a part of the fall clean-up, grass fires are an unnecessary menace. The idea that burning dead grass has more than a fleeting value as a stimulent to vegetation is said by experts to be erroneous. The effect on the burned land, they assert, is deteriorating in the long run. Regardless of whether that is so, a little prairie fire in the neighborhood of frame buildings is an undesirable method of cultivation.

Persons planning to burn brush, the accumulation of household debris and dead grass should first make sure there is no wind blowing and that "fine lanes" separate their fires from buildings and shrubbery to be spared. A little precaution in this direction may prevent a serious fire, and is certain to save much wear and tear on fire apparatus and many gallons of fire company gasoline.

MORE THREATS FROM THE RADICALS

Under the leadership of young "Bob" La Follette eight of Wisconsin's congressmen, all of them of the radical or insurgent type, have gone into print. Through the columns of a Madison newspaper they have served notice that if the Republicans of the house at Washington wish their support in the organization of that body they will have to be good. To be good means that the Republican membership of the house as a whole must place itself at the disposal of this little band of unreconcilables. They are to hold a meeting by and by to which half a dozen representatives of their peculiar breed in other states will be invited. They will adopt a programme for legislation, and their intention appears to be to exact pledges from the Republican leadership that their disastrous bills will be permitted to come to a vote. Otherwise they threaten to deal with the Democrats.

Well, these insurgents, who wear the badge of Republicanism around election time and put it away in moth balls as soon as the polls are closed, have been doing business with the Democrats right along. In the senate they have held the balance of power, although not in the house. But party lines are so closely drawn in the new house that they are in a position to do some dictating—that is to say, if they can find anybody to dictate to. By standing together they can probably elect a Republican or a Democratic speaker as they choose.

Well, let them go to it. The insurgents in both branches of congress are out to make all the trouble they possibly can asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. No matter which party controls the speakership and the committees, the insurgents will play their game, seek to make combinations with either side and create confusion. The situation is such that it might be just as well for the Democrats to elect a speaker. In that event they would have to shoulder a certain responsibility which would be sure to plague them. Doubtless there will not be many tears shed in the ranks of Republican leadership if the organization of the house goes to the other side.

The discering have discovered that it is easiest to gauge the prosperity of any given time by the difficulty experienced in finding the reading matter in magazines.

The Greatest Sin
Failing the Truth
Greatest Shame

By MARSHALL MASLIN

The greatest sin is to know the Truth when you see it and to pass it by without a word of welcome.

The greatest shame is in remembering that day when you knew the Truth and knew what to do—but were afraid to act sturdily upon it.

In every dictionary you will find that word Truth. In every book of philosophy you will come upon it most learnedly dissected and discussed. Many men, many women will eagerly sit themselves down and explain to you the exact meaning of Truth. But none of those scholars can give you peace or answer your question. When they talk of truth, they talk of THEIR Truth, not yours. They describe a strange land in which they have traveled, to which your questing feet have never gone. And they cannot bring it home to you. Nor could you explain YOUR Truth to them.

No man can explain himself fully to any other man, because though we are all very much alike we are all incredibly different. What is true for me will not do for you, and what is true for you will not exactly fit my needs. . . . Were I naked and shivering for warmth and protection, it would cover me for a while but I would be restlessly aware that it was never made for me. . . . My own Truth is like an old coat that has grown familiarly about my shoulders. It may be worn, it may be frayed here and there and in my carelessness I have soiled it somewhat, but I am comfortable in my old Truth. It is mine.

If you would shame yourself, look back to that instant—known only to you—when you were tested and you failed. There was something you had to do and you ran away. Someone you needed to help and you passed that someone by. You failed him, but you failed yourself even more. . . . And if you would revive your drooping self, think of that day when you did the right thing. The world was against you, common sense advised you to be selfish, but your own Truth commanded, "Do as I say of your days." . . . So you did it. You lost by it and your friends did not quite understand. You were lonely for a while but you knew, deep in your heart, that you had been wise—and you have not regretted it. You were true to your own Truth, and life cannot ask more of any man.

"PEPPER" MARTIN

The catcher the best in the game
By the experts was reckoned,
But notwithstanding his fame,
"Pepper" Martin stole second!

The pitcher was speedy and strong,
Many batsmen he'd troubled,
But Martin came ambling along
And to center-field doubled.

Not by fame are new victories won,
Old, old is the story;
Soon or late unafraid of what's done
Comes a youth seeking glory.

Respecting, not fearing the great
And disdaining the recognized, known way,
Unaccepting defeat as his fate,
He attempts for success in his own way.

Youth's hope in this world is to know
That no one secure in his place is,
Fame smiles on the stout heart, and so
"Pepper" Martin ran wild on the bases.

Iowa's Cattle Test Conflict Charged To Small Minority

Enforcement Of Law By Calling Of Military Forces Arouses Regret Because Only One Result Is Likely To Grow Out Of It

Spectacular and riotous protests against Iowa's law providing for the tuberculin test of cattle has aroused wide comment, but the conflict is charged to a small minority of the citizens of that State. There is only condemnation for those responsible, and regret that it was necessary to resort to arms to enforce a properly enacted law.

"Iowa has enjoyed a reputation among the other States," according to the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL, "as a commonwealth of the highest standing. It has the lowest percentage of illiteracy in the union. Its people are counted as the most intelligent as averages go in the entire country. Iowans are known everywhere as blessed with sanity and common sense, obedient to the law, progressive, forward looking, fair and just. It is a pity that small groups of men who object to a statute should resist its enforcement and thus attract to all the people of the state so much unfavorable attention."

Charging that those who rebel insist upon jeopardizing the health and lives of their own people and the people of other States," the CHATTANOOGA TIMES comments: "That widespread opposition to this means of safeguarding the health of men, women and children should have developed in Iowa, which prides itself upon its progressiveness, is little short of amazing."

With a call for "the display of wise leadership on the part of sensible Iowans," the SIOUX FALLS ARGUS-LEADER remarks: "The testing was ordered in conformity with a State law, approved by the majority and accepted without hesitation throughout all but an isolated section of the State. The testing has been conducted without difficulty over a wide section and tubercular cattle have been eradicated from most of Iowa. Yet, the one objecting area remains. Farmers there resist vigorously and have used force in ejecting the testers from their premises. Threat after threat did not induce them to change their stand."

"The State will win in its fight to compel the tests," avers the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, with the declaration: "Apparently it's another of those cases involving the question of personal liberty. Persons who oppose prohibition on such grounds should consider the Iowa farmers who are opposed to another statute that happens to be contrary to what they consider right and proper. Somehow, the idea seems to prevail on these Iowa farms that the law requiring tuberculosis tests works an injustice. But by their attitude they are not attracting much sympathy as victims of injustice. They are proclaiming, in effect, that it is their right to keep tubercular cattle and take a chance of feeding the disease, in milk, to babies."

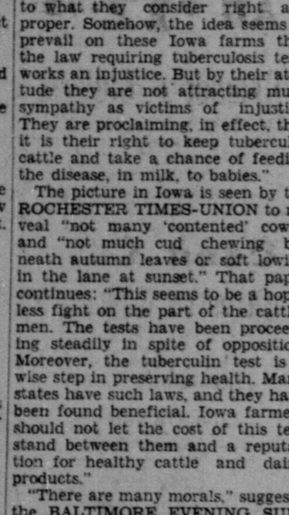

The picture in Iowa is seen by the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION to reveal "not many 'contented' cows," and "not much cud chewing beneath autumn leaves or soft lowing in the lane at sunset." That paper continues: "This seems to be a hopeless fight on the part of the cattlemen. The tests have been proceeding steadily in spite of opposition. Moreover, the tuberculin test is a wise step in preserving health. Many states have such laws, and they have been found beneficial. Iowa farmers should not let the cost of this test stand between them and a reputation for healthy cattle and dairy products."

"There are many morals," suggests the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN, "which might be drawn, the most obvious, perhaps, being summed up in the old saw, 't depends on whose ox is gored.' But we refrain from such moralizings and content ourselves with saying that from time immemorial it has been the custom of Americans, only lately noted by so eminent a historian as James Truslow Adams, to choose for themselves which laws they shall obey and which they shall defy. Thus Iowa, in following the example of New Jersey and (shall we say) the Maryland Free State, is simply proving herself as American as they."

After studying the conflict in Iowa, the OAKLAND TRIBUNE EXPRESSES SATISFACTION at the results of the nine-year campaign to increase the average butterfat production of California cows, and declares that it "shows what may be done with the cooperation of science and agriculture." Declaring that "it is not encouraging to see the National Guard proceeding against a group of agriculturists in any American State," the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL states: "Legislators have a very heavy responsibility when statutes are enacted that invite open revolt. Officials assume a very heavy responsibility when they resort to the national guard for enforcement. Officers of the guard assume a heavy responsibility when they order soldiers with fixed bayonets to advance upon a group of American farmers."

The WHEELING INTELLIGENCER offers the explanation: "It is quite likely the Iowa situation is the result of a combination of circumstances, ignorance on the part of the farmers of the necessity of the work; unwise methods of procedure and inadequate educational effort upon the part of authorities; and, finally, inefficient work by those doing the testing. The whole situation emphasizes the necessity of laying an adequate foundation of education before attempting anything in the way of governmental regulation that departs drastically from long-accepted custom."

SPEED UP!

Speeding automobile drivers are not the only nuisance and menace on the road. The slow driver is responsible for many accidents because of the number who must pass him.

Officers should keep track of pokey, as well as speedy, drivers.

The driver who is afraid to keep up with the accepted standard of speed and the one who wants to loaf should keep off the main arteries.

He may have a right to the road but he is an hindrance to the pleasure and safety of other autoists.

Just as old age has to step aside for youth to go by so the slow driver should expect that for his sort of driving he should seek the least frequented thoroughfares.

When traffic moves at a given maximum speed there is not much chance of accident unless something unforeseen happens.

But when traffic is held up by these slow-moving vehicles and the consequent passing it involves there are likely to be disasters.

Speed is the watchword of today.

In no line of effort or pleasure is the snail-like person welcome.

Keep up with the procession or get out of it.

D. A. V. Starts Forget-Me-Not Campaign Today

Little Emblems Of Disabled Veterans Distributed Through Mail

TO USE FUNDS FOR RELIEF WORK HERE

Thirteen years ago, the last big offensive of the World War in the Meuse-Argonne forest was nearing an end.

Today, the anniversary is being marked by the sale of Forget-Me-Nots in behalf of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, through the Fred L. Rentz Post of this city.

These Forget-Me-Nots are being mailed to local citizens with the request that they send a small contribution back to the post here.

Through the sale of Forget-Me Nots the D. A. V. hopes to raise sufficient funds to help it to carry on its relief and service work among the many unfortunate disabled ex-service men and their families.

In 1917 and 1918 these young men, then in bloom of youth and with pride in the strength of their bodies marched courageously away to do their duty for their country.

Deeply, fervently, those of us who remained at home promised that we would not forget. It is well now to recall those solemn war time pledges made by every true American to the American Soldiers. Those promises were very sacred then and they have not yet been fully redeemed. A Forget-Me-Not purchased and worn today is both a fullfillment and renewal of that pledge. It is well that we should recall on this annual occasion the spirit in which we made that pledge and the sentiment of duty to our disabled ex-service men which it reflects.

The members of the D. A. V. all of whom themselves have been wounded, gassed, injured or disabled have been striving nobly to carry on the necessary relief and service work for the benefit of their necessary relief and service work for the benefit of their less fortunate buddies all these years since the date of the Armistice. The American public owes to these unfortunate men even a greater debt than do their more fortunate comrades and we can help to pay that debt today by contributing generously when we purchase the Forget-Me-Not.

The wearing of a Forget-Me-Not will not only be a badge of distinction but an indication that you have not forgotten and that you are still mindful of your pledge to care for the boys who have suffered pain and privation because of their service to their country and to its people.

Nothing further can be done for those who are now sleeping under the white crosses overseas and if those who failed to return could now speak they would tell us that we can best honor the dead by serving the living.

Let us then help the D. A. V. to help the disabled to help themselves by wearing the little blue flower of remembrance and thus to respond to the silent plea of those who are inarticulate, "Forget-Me-Not, Forget-Me-Not."

Great Britain To Have Tariff

Expect New Tariff Law To Be Adopted By Great Britain

UNITED STATES AFFECTED LITTLE

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
Copyright 1931 By International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Within six months, Great Britain is expected to adopt a general protective tariff with rates ranging up to 20 and 25 per cent., making her one of the highest protected countries in the world. Among the big industrial nations, only the United States, with its 40 per cent. tariff, is likely to top her.

This is the concensus in British political as well as foreign diplomatic and business circles in London following the overwhelming victory of the Conservatives at the pools in the recent general election.

London representatives of American and other foreign businesses are already advising their home offices to prepare for a revolution in world trade. The tariff generally is held to be the only remedy for the deficit of between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 in Britain's trade balance, which is undermining her standing as a nation and is held responsible—even more than an unbalanced budget—for the pound slipping off the gold standard.

Amid confusion and speculation there is general agreement on three principles:

1—America is likely to be less hard hit than Europe, because the United States sells to Britain mainly raw products, while Europe sells manufactures, and duties will probably be imposed chiefly on manufactures.

2—The tariff will be on a "scientific basis," establishing not a flat rate, but special rates for each item. Protectionist excesses will be avoided, because while America is traditionally protectionist, it has difficulty in reducing tariffs while Britain, traditionally a free trade nation, will be underpressure of the full weight of national inertia to keep the rates low.

3—Whatever hardship British tariffs may impose on individual business, if they restore British properity they will more than compensate for the hardships through increased buying power and thus help the rest of the world to regain prosperity.

Some of the highest councils in international finance and business positively assert that the turning point has been reached in Britain as well as in the United States.

There is also agreement that the tariff will come piece-meal and consist of three parts. One will be a general tariff on goods from countries without special trade treaties and conventions. Another will be a lower scale for countries having most-favored nation agreements, and the third will be preferential tariffs for various parts of the British Empire.

Goods likely to be taxed included motion picture films, iron, steel, machinery, cutlery, hardware, glassware, toys, typewriters and similar products; pottery, hosiery, manufactured cotton and woolen goods, fancy goods, leather goods, perfumery and furniture, wheat and other grains, fruits, canned goods are also expected to be taxed, while tobacco, copper, lead and other ores may be hit through empire preferences.

America is likely to be hit hardest on goods on which Empire preferences will be granted. The treasury is counting especially upon Hollywood, which is expected to contribute $10,000,000 annually.

It is generally agreed that iron and steel duties, which are likely to prove most important, would not affect the United States, because America does not compete in those commodities. They would, however, hit Germany, Sweden and other continental countries, as would the proposed tariff on glassware, shoes and pottery.

MOUSE CAUSES AUTOMOBILE CRASH

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Nov. 2.—A mouse in the sedan of Maurice A. Beck, Hanover, caused a collision in which three automobiles were damaged.

The mouse is believed to have made its way up the sleeve of the motorist and when Beck felt the animal brush along his face, he momentarily lost control of his car.

Woman Slightly Injured In An Auto Accident

Police Hear Of A Number Of Accidents On The Streets Over The Week End

John Fowler of 783 Arlington avenue, was enroute east on South street at South Jefferson street, Saturday, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license R26U1 enroute north on Jefferson street, hit and damaged his machine to some extent. Mrs. Warso of R. D. No. 5, who was riding in Pennsylvania license R26U1 was slightly injured.

The machines of Paul Fahey, 212 Phillips street, John H. McCormick of Slippery Rock, R. D. No. 3 and W. H. Rowland, 302 Fern street, were all involved in an accident Saturday on Croton avenue.

Fahey was enroute west on Croton avenue, as McCormick pulled out from the curb enroute east and Rowland was also enroute east. Both machines were coming toward Fahey, as McCormick forced Rowland out toward the side of Fahey. The result was that the Fahey and Rowland machines came together.

John Gross Jr., of 933 Marshall avenue, reported Sunday that he was enroute west on Maryland avenue in the car of Steve Holm, when the machine hit and injured a dog belonging to Mrs. Ponnien of Maryland avenue.

Barber Finds Babe In Rear Auto Seat

Strange Noises Disclose Infant Wrapped In Box On Back Seat

(International News Service)

ALLIQUIPPA, Pa., Nov. 2.— The stork, opines Charles Vella, a barber, is something less than infallible—at least the fowl of fable is no mailman when it comes to delivering the precious packages to the correct addresses.

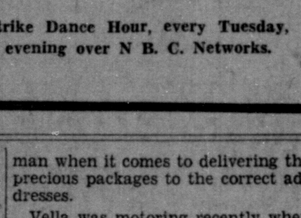

Vella was motoring recently when strange sounds in the rear of his machine caused him considerable perturbation. Should he consult an automobile mechanic? Surely, to paraphrase poe, they were sounds no automobile e'er made before.

The noise increased in intensity. Vella stopped his machine and investigated. The queer sounds were coming from an innocent appearing box on the rear seat.

Vella tore off the wrapping paper and pried open the lid. A newly born babe, loudly uttering its discontent at the world in general and motor cars in particular, lay in the box. It welcomed the freedom afforded by removal of the cover by clenching and unclenching its tiny fists and kicking its chubby legs in the air.

Vella promptly climbed into the driver's seat and rushed the child to a hospital where his verdancy in such matters aided him in convincing attaches he knew nothing of the babe's identity.

FRATERNITIES AND SORORITIES PLEDGE 146 AT WESTMINSTER

Pledging At College Takes Place On Saturday At Noon

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 2.—One hundred and forty-six members of the freshman class at Westminster college were pledged to the five fraternities and seven sororities at the conclusion of "rushing" season Saturday at noon. The class numbers 235 students, but a number of commuters did not accept fraternity bids and some of the groups prefered to extend membership to resident students only.

"Silent period" started Thursday at noon and extended until Saturday at noon. During this time, fraternity and sorority presidents sent lists to the college office of the students they wished to extend membership. Dr. E. B. Russell, assistant dean, acted as referee of fraternity rushing, and Professor Ben Euwema, head of the department of English, acted as referee for sorority rushing.

When members of freshman class returned to the office their choice cards, indicating in order of preference their choice of organizations, the referees compared the bid lists with the acceptance cards and made out lists for each fraternity and sorority.

Of the 146 freshmen pledged to the 12 different groups, 60 were girls pledged to the seven sororities on the campus, and 86 were boys pledged to the five fraternities.

Theta Upsilon sorority pledged: Helen Farnsworth, Buffalo, N. Y.; Helen Snyder, Greensburg; Martha Holliday, New Castle; Elsa Succop, Pittsburgh; Helen McLaughry, Mercer; Florine Weller, Mercer; Ellen Rocks, New Castle; Martha Byers, New Wilmington; and Patricia Jones, New Wilmington.

Sigma Kappa sorority pledged: Clara Brown, Harrisville; Marjorie Brown, Harrisville; Wilma Ingram, Farrell; Janet Brenneman, New Castle; Pearl Marshall, New Castle; and Dorothy Patch, New Castle.

Kappa Alpha Alpha sorority pledged: Gene Lynch, McKeesport; Lora Post, New Castle; Lucille Litman, Verona; Gladys Kelley, New Castle; Nellie Young, East McKeesport; Betty Yacoll, Youngstown, O.; and Elmo Klinesmith, New Kensington.

Pledges of Kappa Delta sorority include: Eunice Price, Youngstown, O.; Theresa Burgoon, Sharon; Mildred Nyholm, Erie; Elsie Rickenbrode, Farrell; Ann DeMar, Sharon; Evelyn Campbell, Farrell; Bessie Struck, Farrell; Lillian Baird, Carnegie; Martha Hazlett, Hartstown; Helen Taylor, Sharon; Ernestine Madden, McKees Rocks; and Helen Roach, Canonsburg.

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority pledged: Mary Morrow, West Hickory; Dorothy Tinker, Pittsburgh; Betty Griffith, Oil City; Dorothy Isaho, Monessen; Dorothy Walk, Butler; Elaine Chapman, New Castle; Martha Johnston, Bellefonte; Mary Blackwood, Cleveland Heights, O.; Charlotte Bartlett, New Castle; and Anna Mae Leyshon, Sharon.

Pledges of Chi Omega sorority include: Fern Fox, Wilmerding; Virginia Fleming, Oil City; Virgil Wettich, New Castle; Anne Thomas, Glenshaw; Eugenie Thomas, Glenshaw; Betty Grier, Cheswick; Margaret Weibel, Aliquippa; Stellarose McKean, New Kensington; Mildred Ralston, Freeport; Ruth Hadley, Oil City; and Louise Burke, Edgewood.

Omicron Mu Gamma sorority pledged: Helen Aird, Monaca; Charlotte Kuerner, Erie; Charolotte Melharn, Erie; Anna Barr, Finleyville; and Margaret Parke, Sharon.

Pledges of Kappa Phi Lambda fraternity include: Howard Bay, New Wilmington; Irving Franklin, Freeport, N. Y.; Bruce Hague, Coraopolis; John Heely, Freeport, N. Y.; John Hodge, New Castle; Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, N. Y.; Carter Johnston, Volant; Milton King, Pulaski; Cleme Lausberg, Tarentum; Clarence Manor, New Castle; Wilbert Needham, Braddock; Robert Scarbrough, McDonald, O.; Glenn Sample; James Smith, New Castle; William Staples, Butler; A. J. Sutton, Avonmore; Don Switzer, New Castle; and Robert Watson, Coraopolis.

Phi Pi Phi fraternity pledged: Doyle Birney, New Castle; John Byers, Pulaski; Richard Davis, New Wilmington; Arthur Deichmiller, Oakmont; Dale Galbreath, Bellevue; Ralph McBane, Bergholz, O.; Thomas Smith, Carnegie; and Joseph Wylie, New Castle.

Pledges of Delta Phi Sigma include: William Byers, New Wilmington; Leslie Erb, West Middlesex; James Ferguson, Brackenridge; Peter Leyshock, Farrell; Leonard McConnell, Jackson Center; William Nunn, New Castle; James Newton, Ellwood City; Alex Regdon, Homestead; Charles Trevaskis, Turtle Creek; Edward Winslow, Farrell; and Gordon Hildebrand, Canton, O.

Theta Upsilon Omega pledged: Allan Allshouse, Falls Creek; Leland Crill, Mercer; Charles Criss, New Wilmington; Charles Davison, Erie; Oscar Emrich, Pittsburgh; Robert Faber, Freeport, N. Y.; Ed. Geyer, Pittsburgh; Nelson Greer, New Wilmington; Paul Greer, New Wilmington; H. C. Griffith, Yatesboro; Jack Hill, Pittsburgh; Calvin Hogg, Butler; Tom Hutchison, New Wilmington; Don Kellett, Freeport, N. Y.; John Kelso, Canonsburg; James Kinney, Jamestown; David McKrae, Aspinwall; William Patterson, New Castle; Harris Rogner, Masury, O.; Robert Rose, Freeport, N. Y.; Walter Shaw, McKeesport; Ray Southard, Freeport, N. Y.; Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O.; Dean Turner, Youngstown, O.; Frank Turner, Pittsburgh; and Walter Young, Freeport, N. Y.

Pledges of Epsilon Theta Pi fraternity are: Thomas Antonopolis, Wilkinsburg; David Barfeld, Pittsburgh; Delmar Cripps, Sharpsville; Harry Dobkin, Pittsburgh; Byron Elder, Picture Rocks; Charles Ferney, Wilmerding; Ed Gill, Greensburg; Martin Gregan, Greensboro; Stephen Godleski, Saltsburg; Stanley Headlee, Whiteley; John Hine, Saltsburg; John Hoffman, West Middlesex; Frank Kreaps, Farrell; William Kunzler, Mt. Pleasant; Joseph Lewis, Brentwood; Joseph McDonough, Minooka; Paul McKnight, Erie; Francis MacDonald, Sharpsville; Frank Rhoad, Amsterdam, N. Y.; Leslie Simpson, Saltsburg; James South, Greensboro; Paul Ruse, Greensboro; and Russell Sewall, New Wilmington.

Rushing and pledging of members of the freshman class was earlier this year than it has been for a number of years. The faculty ruling still holds, however, that first-year students are not eligible for formal initiation until the end of the year.

RETURNS UNGUARDED TO PRISON CELL

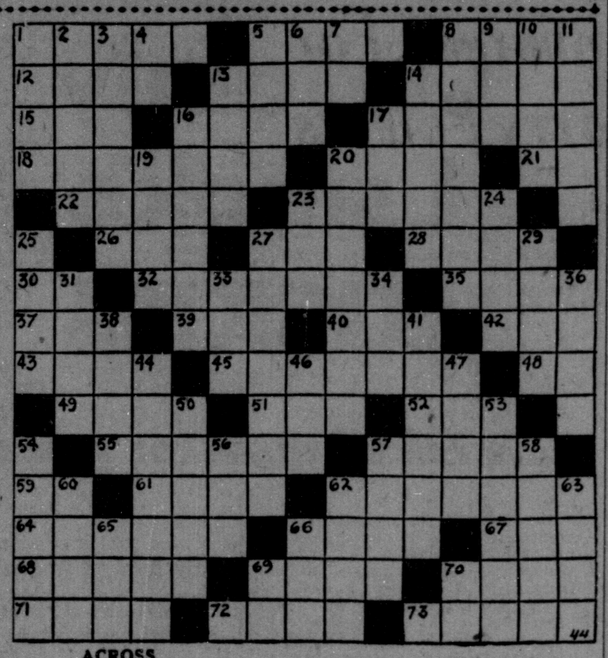

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 1.—In keeping with his promise a month ago to Governor W. G. Conley, L. M. Frantz, former Huntington banker, returned unguarded to West Virginia penitentiary today from Baltimore, where he went a month ago to be near his wife, reported at that time to be dying.

Frantz, who had served a year of his 10-year sentence for violation of the state banking laws, was released from the prison on October 3 after relatives had appealed to Governor Conley. Upon his release, he hurried by airplane to Baltimore and had since remained near his wife, ill in Johns Hopkins hospital.

FAIL TO IDENTIFY VICTIM OF CRASH

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 2.—The body of a man about 30 years old, fatally injured last night when he was struck on the Sharon-Masury road by an automobile owned by A. J. F. McQueen, still was unclaimed today. He is believed to have been a resident of Warren, O., or vicinity at one time, as he was wearing a hat sold by the East Side General store of Warren. Coroner J. C. Henshaw of Trumbull county investigated the case and gave a verdict of accidental death from a skull fracture. MacQueen told officers he did not see the man in the highway until he was almost upon him. He ditched his car in a vain effort to avoid striking him.

CURB APPETITES OF IDLE FATHERS

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 2.—Asserting that he has found too many instances in which the idle husbands eat most of the relief provisions, depriving their families of food, Captain B. C. Jones of the Salvation Army Says a soup kitchen will be established this winter for the express purpose of feeding mothers and children. Schools will co-operate and a note from a teacher in the hands of a pupil will make it possible to obtain service.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The apple sellers are with us again in force. But the personnel of the street corner brigade seems to have altered sharply since last year. The professionals have taken over the field. Few of the peddlers now bear the stamp of better days, of selling apples to stop the desperate gap between jobs.

The departure of white collar workers in sore straits from the corner leaves a galaxy of gentlemen with sets of ferocious whiskers. The probability of regular fruit stand owners branching out to take advantage of public sympathy for the unemployed comes immediately to mind.

High pressure salesmanship is more in evidence, too. Fruit venders circulate among taxis and town cars stalled by traffic lights and poke their wares through windows. A man of 35 begged me to buy yesterday with the plea that he was a professional football player, in need of money for a uniform. Some of the patter is more fantastic than that.

But I miss the young man who used to occupy the Lexington avenue corner near the postoffice in Grand Central. He displayed a great, crudely lettered sign itemizing profit and loss for the week, with doctor's bills, stolen and perished fruit, and hot coffee for cold mornings on the debit side.

KINETOSCOPE DAYS

The recent appearance of television on a full-sized screen at a Broadway theater recalls, old-timers tell me, the first exhibition of the Edison kinetoscope. It was not what you saw, but the fact that you saw it at all, which thrilled. On the whole, the images resemble photographs taken at dusk in a heavy rainstorm with a dollar camera. It is all very exciting, this prospect of the television theater of the future, but I cannot help concluding that the present stage of the game are in for a long wait before they begin to gather profits.

CONDOLENCE

One of the more colorful art schools of the lower East Side (which is located, by the way, in a Greek Orthodox church) is called the Leonardo da Vinci. The other day a plump woman in a shawl entered the school's office and asked, in uncertain English, to speak with "Mr. da Vinci."

Suppressing a laugh, the registrar said: "Mr. da Vinci is dead, madam."

"Oh, I'm so sorry. I knew his father well, too!"

SMALLIES

"Tarzan" and other pictures with a fantastic or primitive note now being filmed can't get enough midget actors to complete casts. It is reported that a midget cannot still abroad in Hollywood these days without immediately being approached and offered a film job.

R. K. O., it is said, is trying to round up between 200 and 300 little folk for forthcoming productions. The casting directors have even written to railroad station agents and conductors in all parts of the country suggesting that names and photographs of midgets encountered be forwarded forthwith to California.

Those highwaymen who held up a college professor in Kansas must have been rank amateurs.—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Clarksburg Theatre Is Being Renovated, For Trial Of Harry Powers

Indications Point To Trial Of "Modern Bluebeard" Being Started Late This Month

Stage Where American Opera Stars Have Appeared Will Hear Legal Phrases

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Last stand of the legitimate drama here, Moore's Opera House, today was being prepared for the biggest and most thrill-packed drama it and Clarksburg ever have known—the trial of Harry F. Powers, Bluebeard slayer, which will get under way late this month.

On the stage where such noted stars as George Arliss, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, William Faversham, Mistinguette, Lou Telegen and Amelia Bingham have appeared, and which resounded to the thump and tap of dancing choruses of the "Greenwich Village Follies" and the "Music Box Revue", the trial of Powers for the slaying of Mrs. Asta Eicher, Park Ridge, Ill., widow who succumbed to the lure of a mail order Lothario, will be held.

Bizarre Setting.

As bizarre a setting as ever enfolded a courtroom drama will be disclosed to spectators when Powers is brought here from the state prison at Moundsville late in November. That the trial will get under way during the month is a foregone conclusion here.

The Harrison county grand jury will meet November 10, and will be given evidence collected by police and detectives of two states in connection with the death of Mrs. Eicher. Evidence bearing on the slaying of her three children, who came with her from Park Ridge, will then be turned over to the grand jurors and no one here anticipates the grand jury will not return immediate indictments against Powers.

Expect Big Crowds.

So the Opera House is getting ready for the biggest crowds it has ever seen and for more excitement and interest than ever attended any of the drama presented there.

It was selected by the Harrison county court for Powers' trial as the only available place here capable of handling the undoubtedly record number of newspaper correspondents, attorneys and spectators who will come here for the trial. Harrison county's new courthouse is in process of construction, and federal courtroom is too small to hold the crowd and government officials believed holding the trial there would disrupt routine of post-office business.

So the opera house has been leased by the county, which is gambling Power's trial will not last more than a week for the lease with Claude Robinson, operator of the theatre, calls for a rental of $450 for the first week and $50 a day thereafter.

Arrangements Completed

All arrangements have been completed, Robinson said today, for the trial.

The backdrops, the flies and the flats are coming off the stage and the entire drama of the trial will be centered there with judge, jury, prisoner and attorneys "reading the boards" to a packed house.

The "star's dressing room" will be renovated and turned over to Judge Southern for use as the judicial chambers. And the jury room will be the room under the stage where, for nearly fifteen years, orchestras have turned up preparatory for the overture and 'curtain."

County officials pointed out that there was another reason for selection of the theatre as a courtroom.

Will Be Guarded

It has three entrances through which the prisoner may be taken to the "court," all of them permitting easy and rapid access to the stage and so located they can be well guarded by state and local police who will be on duty at the theatre The prisoner,, police said, can be whisked from the county jail to the theatre and returned, after court session, with a minimum of difficulty and without coming in contact with the crowds which once before threatened him with mob violence and, in general opinion here, might so do again.

Extensive preparations are being made for accommodation of the influx of newspapermen who will come from all parts of the country to "cover" the trial. Four rows of seats immediately back of the orchestra pit have been allotted as a press-section and tablets and desks will be installed for the writers. In an adjoining building, telegraph and telephone wires will be installed to permit reporters to flash their stories direct to press service and newspapers offices.

Extra Guards

Extra details of city and state police will be on guard at the theatre during the trial to handle the crowd. Doors of the theatre, it was learned, will be opened at 7 a. m. daily and as soon as the 1250 seats are filled the doors will be locked and entrance and exit premitted only to officers, attorneys and the press.

All Clarksburg, it would seem, is preparing to attend the trial and an influx of the curious from all sections of the east is looked for.

The trial will be the biggest public event the town has seen for years, but it will be no "show."

Thrilling Drama

Judge Southern has indicated that, in his pronouncement that the trial will be carried on as rapidly and expeditiously as any other and in his warning that, despite the unsuual setting and the nature of the affair, nothing out of the ordinary will be permitted to take place in the improvised court.

But, despite the judicial pronouncement, it will be a thrilling drama to this entire region and all indications point to the biggest "house" in the history of Moore's opera house.

VOTERS TO SELECT CITY AND COUNTY OFFICERS TUESDAY

party square on the left hand side of the ballot does not deny the voter the right to register a vote for a candidate in some other party. He can vote a straight ticket, and then jumping over to some individual candidate mark for him. The election officers will then count the vote as being one cast for all the regular party nominees, save the one indicated.

Tear Off Corner

Voters are again warned to exercise care in tearing off the upper left hand corner of the ballot which contains the number of the ballot. Entering the polling booth the voter will give his name to the judge of elections. This officer will then hand the voter a ballot and he will proceed to the booth. After voting he folds his ballot up, shows the number on the upper left hand corner to the judge and then tears off the number. A ballot cast with the number on it, is voided by the election officers in the count.

Many Candidates

More candidates are seen this election than in a number of years. For county commissioner Elmer Conner and P. O. Elder are the Republican nominees. W. Grover Stevenson is the nominee of the Democratic party, with J. S. Martin and Milo D. Paden being shown as the Socialist nominees. Franklin R. Woods has the Prohibition and Independent nomination and Samuel W. Crawford is running as an Independent.

For county treasurer, William O. Pitts is the Republican nominee, Francis M. Davis the Democratic nominee, and Bion W. Cover is shown as the Socialist-Prohibition nominee.

Ralph M. Campbell, Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts, has the nomination of the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition parties, with no other candidates being on the ballot.

Orville Potter has the Republican, Democrat, and Prohibition nominations for county coroner, with T. F. Nugent named as the Socialist nominee.

The race for County Controller sees four candidates. R. C. McCaslin, Jr., is the Republican nominee, William J. Eroe, Jr., the Democratic nominee, and John C. Blevins and Frank W. Hill running as Independents.

For County surveyor, Robert Armstrong has the Republican nomination with no other parties naming nominees.

City Ticket

In the City of New Castle, Charles B. Mayne has the Republican nomination and Carl W. Haufler the Democratic nomination for mayor. Charles E. McGrath is named as the Prohibition nominee but he has asked his friends to disregard this as he was defeated for the Republican nomination.

For city council D. O. Davies and Albert A. Hoyland are the Republican nominees, and H. Phillips Stone and Percy Lavarack the Democratic nominees. William T. Burns is named as the Prohibition nominee but because he was defeated for the Republican nomination he has asked his friends to disregard this. John M. Gardner and Charles A. McKeever are running as Independent candidates.

L. W. McClung is the Republican nominee for city treasurer and Harry C. Turner the Democratic nominee.

For school director there are three to elect to a six year term. A. C. Hyde has the Republican Democratic and Prohibition nominations, Daniel B. Woolcock has the Republican and Democratic nominations and J. Herbert McIlvenny the Republican and Prohibition nominations. Charles G. Martin is named as a Democratic nominee, and A. M. Perifano as the Prohibition nominee.

For the unexpired two year term, Ray Bradford Elliott has the Republican, Democratic and Socialist nominations.

The polls open at seven o'clock in the morning and remain open until seven o'clock in the evening. Any voter inside the polls at seven p. m. is entitled to vote no matter if the time seems to have expired. However the voter must be inside the building used as the polling place.

Bold Holdup On Sheridan Avenue Early In Morning

Holdup Man Uses Gun In Enforcing His Demands On Young Man

Ted Miller, 605 Court street, while walking west on Sheridan avenue about 1:45 a. m. today, was the victim of a holdup man, who relieved him of his money at the point of a gun.

The holdup occurred near Neshannock boulevard intersection of Sheridan avenue. Mr. Miller was accosted by a man, who asked him for a match. He gave the man a match, then the man pulled a gun on him.

"Put up your hands and turn around," was the sharp command of the holdup man.

Miller compiled and the man went through his pockets and took his pocketbook and $4.

Having secured the money, the holdup man told Miller to walk up Sheridan avenue and not look back. After going a short distance, Miller looked back and saw the holdup man running toward Oak Park cemetery.

The police were notified and Officers Lockard, Criswell, Dukes and Hanna answered but were unable to find any trace of the holdup man. Miller described him as being five meet eight or nine inches in height, and wearing a dark overcoat, dark suit and gray hat.

Libel Suit Is Resumed Today

Continue Testimony That Defends Character And Reputation Of Plaintiff

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SECRET DEPOSITION

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2.—Continuing with testimony that was intended to defend the character and reputation of the plaintiff, which was flayed in the case presented by the defense, the trial of the $50,000 libel suit instituted by Nan Britton against C. A. Klunk of Marion, O., was resumed in Federal Court here today.

Attorney William F. Marsteller of Cleveland, chief counsel for the author-plaintiff, who wrote "The President's Daughter," was scheduled to continue his readings from the book at the point where he was halted for the week-end adjournment of the hearing.

With the defense case already rested, it was believed that the testimony for the plaintiff, who charges she was defamed in the book, "The Answer to the President's Daughter," allegedly distributed by Klunk, might also come to an end today or tomorrow.

Secret Deposition

Before attorneys for the plaintiff closed the presentation of their evidence, however, another attempt was expected to be made to place Miss Britton on the stand to testify. This move was vigorously opposed at last Friday's session by defense attorneys who indicated that they would object to the witness if a second effort was made to place her in the witness chair.

Mystery today surrounded the contents of a secret deposition, filed late Saturday by the plaintiff, which has been ordered carefully-guarded by Judge John Killits. The deposition, sent here from a New York hotel, cannot be published in detail nor in substance, and no reference to its nature can be made, Judge Killits ruled in impounding the evidence.

Two Men Get Thirty Days In County Jail

Firpo Davis on Saturday night was acting in a disorderly manner and when Officers Wallace and Cooper attempted to place him under arrest, acted in a very disorderly manner, offering strenuous resistance to the officers. This morning, Mayor W. H. Gillespie assessed him a fine of $25 with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail on a charge of drunk and disorderly and resisting an officer. He is vacationing for thirty days in the county jail.

Bish Storm was arrested on suspicion by Detective Logan and Officer Lockard in the vicinity of the Eighth Ward fire department Saturday night, while investigating a call from the engine house to the effect that a man had been beaten up. They found Mike Miller had been beaten by two men. Storm was found to have a piece of loaded hose in his possession. He was fined $25 with the alternative of thirty days in the county jail. He went to jail.

Four Hunters Hurt On Opening Day

(International News Service)

Four casualties, the first of the small-game season, were reported today shortly after thousands of Western Pennsylvania hunters trekked to their favorite preserves in search of rabbits, grouse and other small game.

The victims were Charles Miller, 30, of Dunbar, Fayette county; Harold Altmire, 18, of Butler; Jones E. Kurtz, 16, of Dowegal, and Anthony Tignetti, 16, of Apollo.

Hard times notwithstanding, 38,000 men were given jobs in sugar factories out west. Sweet are the uses of adversity.—The Columbia (S. C.) Record.

Plan To Appeal From Sentences In Mining Riots

International Labor Defense Will Proceed With Phases Of Appeal

MANY COMMUNISTS HANDED SENTENCES

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—The international labor defense today was proceeding with its plans to appeal from jail sentences and fines imposed on Thomas Myerscough and striking miners who participated in the fatal Wildwood mine riot last June 22, in which Peter Zigarac was fatally injured.

The organization announced it would appeal at once the two-year workhouse sentences imposed by Judge Culver of Bradford county on Myerscough, reputed organizer for the National Miners' Union; Robert Young, said to be an organizer for the Trade Unity League, and Mrs. Kitty Priscelac, a striking miner's wife. They were also fined various amounts. An appeal will also be taken from the one-year term and fine imposed on Mike Federoff.

To Appeal All Cases

Officials of the international defense announced they would also appeal all cases in Washington county where a number of defendants were jailed as the result of a demonstration near Canonsburg and meetings at Avella and other mining communities. The defense organization will also seek to upset the court verdicts against other defendants in the Wildwood case.

Meanwhile, the Allegheny county grand jury was expected to take action this week on the recommendation of a coroner's jury that Myerscough and Herbert Reel, a deputy sheriff, be held on manslaughter charges as the result of Zigarac's death.

Zigarac was fatally wounded in the free-for-all which ensued when sheriff's deputies sought to break up the demonstration. Both Reel and Myerscough were released under heavy bond following the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Suggests Women Go To Polls Early

Many Women Wait Until Last Hour In Evening To Vote In City

In several elections held in New Castle in the past five years, many voters have been unable to vote because of the congestion at the polls in the last hour of voting. Many women have waited until their husbands could go to the polls to vote, and thus added to the congestion.

Mrs. F. S. Grenneman, vice chairman of the Republican County Committee today suggested that it would relieve the congestion considerably if many women would go to the polls in the early hours of the morning or the hours between two and four in the afternoon.

These times are usually slack and it would be of benefit if the women could do it. It is also suggested that everybody who can do so, get out and vote early on Tuesday in order to clear the way for those who cannot get to the polls until six or six thirty o'clock.

MRS. J. R. RICK GETS A "BUNNY"

Last week Mrs. J. R. Rick, 117 East Leasure avenue, made arrangements for a hunting party today and bright and early, she, with her husband, R. King, and Walter Aiken struck out over the hills in search of game and Mrs. Rick came back with a large rabbit and a ring neck pheasant.

She feels this an auspicious start for the season and expects to bag more "bunnies" before the season is over.

Golden Wedding Is Being Celebrated

MR. AND MRS. WM. PHILLIPS

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips of 3 East Reynolds St. today Dan Cupid is finishing a visit he started fifty years ago in the city of Swansea, South Wales. Time and distance mean little to the ladd with the arrows, the only difference being that today the young man and woman he saw united a half century ago are today celebrating the golden anniversary of that event.

Fifty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Phillips took each other for better or for worse and sometime after their wedding came to the United States to make their way. Settling in Baltimore, Md., they stayed but a short time, coming to Pittsburgh. Mr. Phillips was an expert tin worker and he was soon at work in the South Side Works.

About that time New Castle was beginning to make itself felt in the tinplate industry and with his family, Mr. Philips came to New Castle to what was known as the Greer Tin Mill, getting a job as a roller. New Castle has been the family home ever since and a few years ago he was retired on pension by the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company after thirty years service with the corporation.

When the Emmanual Baptist Church was organized Mr. and Mrs. Phillips affiliated themselves with it and have been loyal members through the years.

Of the children born to them, five are living. They are, William J., who is in California, Mrs. Mary Jones, and Mrs. Hannah Bluedorn of New Castle, Mrs. Sadie Pillifant of Hubbard, O., and Frank, of New Castle.

Many congratulatory letters have been received by the couple and this evening in their home their children and friends will gather to rejoice with them on the occasion of their fiftieth anniversary of happily wedded life.

FREAK PARTY AT CLUB PROVES HUGE SUCCESS

Most unique was the "freak' party held in the New Castle Field Club house on Saturday evening, when members assembled, garbed in clothes once popular years ago, taken from their attics. An exceptionally large number participated in this event, and it was voted most enjoyable as well as entertaining.

This occasion which was given in observance of the Hallowe'en season, marked one of the years biggest social events of the club. As the grand march was in progress, the judges, namely Judge James A. Chambers, Mayor W. H. Gillespie and W. W. Duff, president of the Field Club, selected those wearing the cleverest costumes. Novel prizes for this feature were given to Mrs. James B. Matthews and C. L. Shira for the most comic outfits; Mrs. P. A. Shoaf and George S. Long received the awards for wearing the most original costumes, while Miss Emmy Lou Dickey was given the trophy for being attired in the prettiest costume.

Dancing was enjoyed from 9 until 12 o'clock to an excellent program of music, and also, bridge was enjoyed as another feature from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. At the conclusion of the cards contest Mrs. M. A. McLure and A. E. Street were presented the tokens for being successful in winning honors.

From 11 to 12 o'clock, a delicious lunch was served the guests in the dining room.

The dance committee, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Klein, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. McAfee and Phillip Chambers had charge of the music program and those overseeing the card room included Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rappold Mr. and Mrs. James A. Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fenton.

The club house was tittingly decorated with corn stalks, laughing pumpkin faces, witches, black cats, Autumn leaves, etc., presenting a striking setting for the occasion.

The tureen dinner planned for members of the 1929 Five Hundred Club at the home of Mrs. J. F. Titus on Edison avenue for Tuesday has been postponed indefinitely.

Unexpected Club

Mrs. Howard Kirk of Moody avenue will extend hospitality to the Unexpected Club members in her home Tuesday evening.

FOX RESIDENCE IS SCENE OF EVENT

Associates of the Tuesday Bridge club with their husbands and friends gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fox on Englewood avenue who recently moved to their present location from Leasure avenue. The affair was in the form of a house warming, and bridge featured the social period. At the close of the cards contest, it was discovered the success awards were won by Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. F. D. Taylor, and the Messrs. Halley and Moser.

At a suitable hour, Mrs. Fox assisted by Mrs. M. S. Kincaid served a delicious repast. Tones in keeping with the Hallowe'en season were used effectively in the menu and table appointments.

When the evening was at its height, the honored couple were presented with a handsome gift in behalf of the club members.

Birthday Party

Friends and relatives to the number of fifteen gathered at the home of Mrs. J. C. Cunningham of the Ellwood-New Castle road on Thursday, Oct. 28th and helped her to celebrate her 65th birthday.

The party was a complete surprise to the honored lady when the door opened at eleven o'clock and friends from New Castle, Ellwood and the surrounding country took possession of her home and proceeded to celebrate.

Dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was spent in visiting. Many beautiful gifts testified to the affection in which Mrs. Cunningham is held.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Roof, and son Buster, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cunningham, Mrs. Weingartner, Mrs. Frank Hanks and son Bobby, Mrs. D. H. Cummingham, Mrs. Elizabeth Cunningham, son Dale, Mrs. Gladys Yansen, Zinna Roof, Jefferson Craig, Harry Cunningham, John Booher, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cunningham.

Primary Department Party

The Primary Department of the Central Christian church were enjoyably entertained Saturday afternoon in the church rooms at a Hallowe'en party. The hours were kept lively with a program of games, stunts and contests, and at a suitable hour, all were invited into the dining room where they were served an appetizing lunch. Places marked for 60 guests, and the table, menu and the decorations throughout were in keeping with the season. Orange and black tones prevailed throughout, and novelties suggestive of Hallowe'en were placed about adding to the merriment of the affair.

Those in charge comprised the teachers of the class, namely, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, Mrs. I. Davis and the Misses Elizabeth Richards, Laura Bell, Florence Strobel and Eleanor Phelps.

Attend Party

A birthday party given recently in honor of Mrs. Eugene Stover of Ravenna, O., who will be remembered before her marriage as Stella Rosen, was attended by Miss Hazel Updegraf of West Washington street and Everette Rick and Victor Cooper of Ray street.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS BRING BOY TROUBLE

A petition to juvenile court was made before a local alderman this morning by Mrs. Laura Englehardt, 506 Sheridan avenue, charging that Charles Slack, 14, of Sheridan avenue, had defaced the outside of her home by throwing tomatoes, cabbages and other vegetables against the walls. City police had been notified of the depredations, but the elusive boy, they reported, could not be found, and they advised the irate householder to make an information before the alderman.

MARKETS AND BANKS CLOSED ELECTION DAY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Virtually all leading financial and commodity markets will be closed tomorrow in observance of election day, which is a legal holiday in most states.

The New York stock exchange, the New York curb market, the New York cotton exchange, the New York produce exchange, are among the many exchanges which will be closed on that date.

Banks will also remain closed as well as many of the important business establishments.

Makers of Vicks VapoRub Announce a New Plan for Home-Control of Colds

News Comes With Development of a New Product; A Unique Companion to the Famous Treatment, Based on a New Idea for Prevention of Colds.

Makes Possible a Further Reduction of the Family "Colds-Tax" This Winter In Time, Money, Health.

A quarter century ago, Vicks VapoRub introduced the modern external method of treating colds. Now, Vicks Nose & Throat Drops—latest development by the Vicks chemists—introduces a new idea in preventing colds. Together, these perfect allies make possible the new Vick Plan for better "Control of Colds" and reduction of the family "Colds-Tax" in time, money and health.

Here is the Vick Plan of Control:

1.—BEFORE a Cold Starts.

On exposure to colds or to any of the causes that ordinarily lead to colds—(crowded indoor places—stuffy, poorly ventilated rooms—sudden temperature changes—wet and cold, etc., etc.)—that slow down the normal functioning of the nose, Nature's marvelous "first line of defense against colds"—use Vicks Drops promptly. Or, if a cold actually threatens—at that first stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages—a few drops up each nostril, and many annoying colds will be avoided.

2.—AFTER a Cold Starts.

At night, rub Vicks Vapo-Rub well over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel. Leave bed clothing loose around the neck so the medicated vapors can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time or place—use the convenient Vicks Drops as often as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops—medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub).

Trial Offer to Vick Users.

The makers want every user of Vicks VapoRub to try Vicks Nose Drops. Free trial samples of the Nose Drops were sent every druggist in the United States—but if you failed to get yours, buy a bottle today and try out the Vick Plan for better Home Control of Colds as directed. If you are not delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money without question.

Dr. Clendening Cites Record Of Heart Action Traced By Instrument

Valuable New Method Of Functional Testing Is Decribed As Pure Joy To Medical Profession

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Among the most valuable of the new methods of functional testing of the organs of the body is the recording of heart action.

The heart is composed of a special kind of muscle and divided into four chambers. All of these working synchronously produce the pulse beat. The old-time physician, by feeling this pulse beat, could learn a good deal about the action of the heart as a whole. He could tell whether the beat was strong or weak, whether the heart was rapid and laboring under excitement or undue stimulus, whether it was beating regularly and rhythmically or not. But for any purposes of close analysis of the action of the four different chambers or of the different parts of the heart muscle he was at sea.

To enlarge his knowledge the first instruments introduced about 20 years ago attempted to make a tracing with a pen on a moving sheet of paper of the pulse at the wrist, simultaneously with the apex beat of the heart and the pulsation of the veins in the neck. The latter were designed to show the contraction of the upper chambers of the heart—the auricles—while the apex and wrest tracing showed the action of

When these tracings were completed they were somewhat enlarged views of the pulsations at the various points. They could be analyzed minutely and studied, much as a detective or writing expert examines a signature under the microscope to determine whether it is a forgery or not. They furnished a great deal of valuable information, but they were clumsy and not easily handled. The machines themselves were so temperamental and spilled so much ink that most of us who possessed them found that the only way to operate them was to get into a bathtub full of ink with the patient and the instrument and take the tracing; you did not get ink over so many different places that way. But some patients objected to this, so the methods fell into disuse.

Then an instrument called the electrocardiograph was perfected and it has been a pure joy. Its principle depends on the fact that a muscle in contracting causes a change of electrical potential to occur along its course. The heart is a muscle, and if all other muscles in the body are kept still, and electrodes fastened on opposite sides of the body, the heart's contraction wave is recorded and can be photographed on a moving strip of film.

The use of this instrument reveals more about the mechanism of the heart than any other instrument the medical profession has ever had. It shows how the wave progresses or is held up in any part of the course of the heart muscle. If there is a pulse irregularity it shows where the irregularity originated and what is its cause.

In arterial disease of the heart it locates the exact place where disease exists in a way that to an older generation would have seemed uncanny. Many years ago, when the instrument was first being used, a prominent physician said that the time would come when the blood vessel which was diseased in the heart could be located as exactly and minutely as we can now locate what blood vessel in the brain is obstructed. That prophesy has recently been fulfilled by the work of Barnes at the Mayo clinic.

As to irregularities of the heart, a word of comfort from these studies can be given. Irregularities of the heart are very common, especially after 40 years of age. The commonest of all—the so-called missed beat or dropped beat—is perfectly harmless and indicates no disease of the heart muscle whatever.

CIRCUS GIRL CLAIMS RADIO RECORD

This young lady probably has talked over more radio stations than any other announcer or entertainer. She is Miss Klara E. Knecht, advance agent for a circus, who has just completed a tour of 14,891 miles during which she talked from approximately 150 stations. She tells intimate stories of circus life, sometimes broadcasting right from the "big top" with the aid of the elephant, above, clowns and other entertainers.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

First Aid In Division Made Easy

Dr. Myers Tells Parents How To Help Child Do Sums

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Yesterday we saw some foundation work the child must have in order to succeed in long division. We observed his need of mastering the simple basic facts of multiplication and subtraction and ways of helping him acquire those facts he has not yet learned completely. As soon as he can do such examples as 803 times 47 or 7106 minus 4108, with ease and perfect accuracy, he is ready for long division: no sooner.

About 95 per cent of your success will depend upon your degree of calmness and your sympathy for the child. Remember that for him it is tremendously difficult and that the steps in helping him must be taken very slowly and with great precision.

Find out from the child the form in which problems of long division have been presented by his teacher. Some, for example, put the quotient in the right of the divisor, some above it. Use the form which the child has been exposed to.

Begin with very easy problems; make them short. First use single numbers for divisors as 31 divided by 8, worked out by long division. As the child has your problem before him let him do one or two like it. Then do one for him like this: 257 divided by 9: perhaps two or three of them. On the same page, let him do several more like it. Praise him heartily for his successes.

Use harder ones like 329 divided by 8 and 750 divided by 6 and 214 divided by 7 getting over the principle that every time a partial divisor is used up and every time a number is employed in the dividend, you must put down a figure in the quotient.

Next introduce the two-place divisor as 87 divided by 21 and 93 divided by 30. Work several of them very deliberately, saying everything aloud as you proceed. With your models before the child let him do several more of the same kind. Don't worry him at this stage with long problems like 8753 divided by 21. Use short dividends. Make everything as simple as possible. At best, the work is hard enough.

Furthermore, the child can do short problems in less time and can do them more accurately than large ones. He gets pleasure from evidence of progress. Success means more success, and his morale goes up.

For some while use such divisors as 21, 31, 40 so that his trial advisor will always work. You can see that 82 divided by 25 might greatly disturb him until he has mastered earlier steps.

Don't keep the child working for more than half an hour at most on any evening. Be skilful enough to have him always finish up succeeding so that he leaves his work with a hopeful, happy attitude.

Two Girls Hurt In Bomb Blast

Two Young Girls Injured As Italian Grocery Store Near Pittsburgh Is Bombed

IMMEDIATE PROBE IS COMMENCED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—Two girls were shaken and bruised today when a dynamite bomb, placed against the foundation of a grocery store owned by Louis De Cicco, shattered windows in the building, and hurled more than a score of residents of Stowe township from their beds as it went off with a detonation heard for nearly a mile.

De Cicco, his wife Angeline, Josephine 21, Rose 20, James 17 and Frank 12, were asleep when the bomb exploded. The two girls, sleeping in the front part of the building, were thrown from their bed and bruised. The rest of the family escaped unhurt.

Windows Blown Out.

Windows in adjoining buildings were blown in by the concussion and two families were thrown from bed by the blast, damage from which was estimated at $1500.

County Detective John Geisler, who immediately began an investigation, said the motive for the bombing has not been ascertained. De Cicco told police he had no enemies and had received no threatening letters. Stowe township police said that 200 sticks of dynamite had been reported stolen from a road construction camp in Kennedy township last night and believe the dynamite came from there. Reports that three men were seen running from the scene of the explosion were not verified.

GROCER IS LOCKED IN OWN ICE BOX

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 2.—Leonard Rick, who conducts a grocery store and meat market at Maple and Bruce streets, told police he was robbed of $134.36 and placed in a refrigerator, in which he was held a prisoner for half an hour. Rick said a small man with a handkerchief across his face, a two-gun bandit, forced him to part with the cash and then placed him in the refrigerator. He secured his freedom by attracting the attention of his wife, who lived in a house adjoining the store.

Brenneman To Head Roll Call For Red Cross

Frank S. Brenneman Named Chairman By Lawrence County Chapter

DRIVE STARTS ARMISTICE DAY

FRANK S. BRENNEMAN

Frank S. Brenneman, prominent New Castle man, has been named county chairman for the annual Red Cross roll call, it was announced today by Ivor V. Davis, chairman of the board, and will start at once to make plans for the campaign thruout the county.

Mr. Brenneman has taken an active interest in many civic affairs throughout the city and is widely known throughout the county. Under his leadership the roll call this year is expected to be highly successful.

Funds for relief work, both locally and nationally, are urgently needed by the American Red Cross and the citizens of the county will be asked to support the Red Cross in this appeal as generously as possible.

Work will be started this week on organizing the county and appointing chairmen in the various districts outside the city of New Castle who will conduct the campaign between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

South West Thrills To Price Increases For Wheat And Oil

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—A spirit of jubilation like that of Armistice Day in 1918 swelled and billowed across the Southwest as an empire builded with wheat and oil hailed 85-cent oil and wheat 40 per cent more valuable than it was only a month ago.

In Tulsa, Okla., oil capital of the Southwest, streets were filled, Saturday night and this morning, with hilarious celebrators. Bands blared. Ponderous tank wagons and oil trucks paraded. Whistles blew and belis rang and the night was noisy with horns, squawkers and innumerable sound devices.

Buying Power Gains

Almost over night uncounted millions of dollars in increased buying power had come to the oil and wheat interests of the Southwest, to be multiplied many times over by its effect on other industries and commodities.

Oil prices, which had been so low that a barrel of crude brought no more than a gallon of retail gasoline, had struggled upward during a month of strict probation backed by military rule, to a price which Andrew H. Rowley, managing editor of "The Oil and Gas Journal," saw as a permanent advance to be bolstered by further advances.

"Conditions justify it," he said.

Wheat prices, which had fallen to such heart-breaking depths that farmers' returns were barely enough to meet production charges, if that much, had climbed up 40 per cent, and Frank A. Theis, president of the Kansas City Board of Trade, said wheat, with "impressive leadership," was showing the way to other commodities.

Confidence Restored

"The value of the advance," he added, "cannot be expressed in the millions of dollars of potential wealth it has added to the farmers' purchasing power. The value of its effect in restoring confidence to other commodities, to business and individuals, would increase such a sum many times."

The turn in oil prices, after months of discouragement and tribulation, was credited largely to the interstate agreement on production of output, enforced by marital law in East Texas and Oklahoma. Initiated by Continental Oil, the jump to an 85-cent top was made almost at once by Barnsdall, Wilcox, Phillips and Vickers interests.

Local Merchants Will Discuss Big Business Project

Better Business Bureau To Meet On Confidence Program Tuesday Evening

Members of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday evening in the Elks club, when a confidence program will be discussed as a means of improving conditions locally.

In addition to members of the Bureau, every merchant in the city as well as representatives of the local banks, have been asked to attend.

The affair will be preceded by a dinner at 6:15, and those who have been mailed return cards are asked to have them in by noon Tuesday. Any person desiring to attend who has not received a card is asked to make reservations at the Chamber of Commerce 2660 by noon Tuesday.

Asks Hunters To Keep Watch For Hungarian Quail

Closed Season On Birds Should Move Hunters To Be Cautious

Deputy Game Protector Frank Coen, in a statement today urges local hunters to keep a sharp watch for Hungarian quail, and to refrain from shooting them as there is a closed season on these birds.

The state game commission is making a survey of the various counties where Hungarian quail were released during the year in an effort to find out how the birds have thrived. Mr. Coen will appreciate it, if hunters discovering any Hungarian quail will drop him a post card at his address, 514 Edgewood avenue, giving their name and address and the location where the birds were sighted together with the number of birds in the covey.

Hungarian quail are slightly larger than the regular quail which are native to this section. When in flight, they resemble the native quail a good bit. The tail when spread in flight, however, shows a reddish-bronze color. The birds make a squeaking noise, similar somewhat to that of guinea fowl when they are flushed, and rise from the ground in flight.

If the birds are found to be thriving, more will be released in Lawrence county. If they have not, no more will be released here. It is for this reason that the information is desired.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CAS'TLE

History of Central resbyterian church on the Public Square dates back February 15, 1851 and in the period of time since its inception has been designated by several different names and has been affiliated with different branches of the Presbyterian church.

It was organized as the "Free Presbyterian Church of New Castle. In the Free Church organization, it was connected with the Presbytery of Mahoning and the Synod of Cincinnati. The Free Presbyterian church owed its origin to the agitation of the slavery question. As the Republican party was a political, so the Free church was a religious protest against American Slavery. Early records of the church plainly indicate that there was no little dissatisfaction among the Presbyterians of New Castle with the decision on the Assembly of 1845 "that the slave holding is no bar to communion". But when President Fillmore signed the Fugitive Slave Biill in September, 1850, the attitude of church and state toward the slave-holding power seemed to be longer tolerable. Opposition to slavery was intensified.

Action was immediately taken looking to the organization of a Free Church in New Castle, which object was accomplished only a few months after the Fugitive Slave Bill became a law. Twenty-nine persons united in the organization. The growth of the church was quite moderate for the two and one-half years following its organization.

Preaching services were held at irregular intervals and in different places.

In February 1854, Rev. A. B. Bradford accepted a call to this church and his relations with it continued with the exception of one year, during which he was the United States Consul in China, until summer of 1867. During his ministration a commodious church edifice was erected and the membership increased to nearly two hundred. The last important act of Mr. Bradford's administration was the withdrawal of the congregation from the Free Church organization and its union with the New School Branch of the Presbyterian church. Immediately after his resignation, the congregation extended a call to Rev. W. T. Wylie of the Covenant Church of New Castle, organized by Rev. Josiah Hutchman in 1847, expecting him to bring his congregation with him. The expectations was realized and Rev. Wylie remained pastor of the united congregation until 1869. In 1871, Rev. B. M. Kerr accepted a call to the church, and was installed on June 14th of that year. His pastorate was brief but during his administration this church passed through another ecclesiastical relation in the union of the "Old" and "New School" bodies. Thus in twenty-five years, the original members of the church had come back where they started from and that without change in their principles on the subject for which they went out of the "Old Style Church. In the abolition of slavery their principles had been justified before the world. Mr. Kerr resigned in a year and six months, leaving a membership of two hundred. In about a year from the date of his resignation Rev. M. H. Calkins was installed as pastor on July 1873.

It has continued to grow in number and importance in the religious life of the community and the one other change that might be mentioned, is that while it was known for years as the Second Presbyterian church, it has now many years been known officially designated as the Central Presbyterian church. Dr. C. B. Wingerd is the present pastor.

Interesting News For The Well Dressed Woman

Garments Should Be Cleaned In Purified And Distilled Solvent

A bit of news that every well-dressed woman should be interested in is the fact that garments worn next to the body should be cleaned in purified and distilled solvent. Long life and good appearance is the heritage of garments cleaned the "Smith" way.

When you send your garments to Smith's, New Castle's Largest Cleaners and Dyers, to be cleaned, they are continually cleaned in purified and distilled solvent made possible by a special vacuum distillation process which required the expenditure of thousands of dollars to install. This system is used exclusively in New Castle by Smith's.

With the distillation process, a steady flow of crystal clear solvent keeps moving through the garments, removing every particle of dirt and assuring the finest quality in dry cleaning service.

Investigate your cleaner! Smith's famous for Good Dry Cleaning, will welcome an opportunity to serve you, assuring you of the finest service together with entire satisfaction. Prices have been materially reduced due to improved equipment.

The management of Smith's Cleaners and Dyers extends an invitation to anyone to visit their plant in operation. It will greatly increase your knowledge as to how clothes are cleaned in a modern plant today.

Resume Bombings In Philadelphia

Home Of Another Italian Baker Bombed—Entire Family Jarred

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The home of another Italian baker in South Philadelphia was bombed early today. It was the third bombing here within the past 72 hours while a fourth attempt failed.

The blast wrecked the home of Michael Staccardo, 40, hurling Staccardo from his bed and badly jarring his wife, Camille, 30, and their six children.

The bombings are believed to have grown out of a "price war" between two factions of bakers of Italian descent. The homes of those bombed in each case were those of bakers selling bread for one cent less than the price fixed by a New York combine of Italian bakeries.

New York thugs are believed to have been brought here for a campaign to terrorize local bakers into complying with the demands of the New York group as each bomb has been hurled from a car bearing New York license plates.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL STRAIGHTEN HER OUT

Of course you are particular about the medicines you give your child. You want no harmful drugs, no narcotics in a child's medicine.

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged —never forced.

That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments. It contains nothing that can harm a child's tender organs.

Castoria is so mild you can safely give it to a young infant to ease colic pains. Yet, gentle as it is, it is unfailingly effective. Larger doses keep older children well regulated. And babies and children alike love its taste—never object to taking Castoria!

The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's remedy. The genuine Castoria always has the name, Chas. H. Fletcher, on the package.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MAN IS FATALLY GORED BY BULL

(International News Service)

BELLAIRE, O., Nov. 2.—Constanzo Allietta, 59 ,a farmer of Rock Hill, near here, was attacked and killed by a bull near his home today. His son, Joseph, 11, was a witness.

Slayer Held At Wooster, Ohio

Paroled Convict Confesses To Killing Of Farmer With Axe

(International News Service)

ORRVILLE, O., Nov. 2.—Arrested here a week after he was paroled from the Indiana state penitentiary and pleading guilty to the murder of Henry Miller, farmer living near here, in 1923, George Bauhoff, 28, today was to be removed to the county jail at Wooster to await action of the Wayne county grand jury.

Bauhoff was arrested, police said, after he jumped his parole in Indiana, stole an automobile at Cresline, O., and came here. He was questioned concerning a petty theft and after prolonged interrogation, admitted he had been released last week from the Indiana prison, then admitted the murder of Miller.

Bauhoff, police asserted, said he killed the farmer with an axe when Miller caught him stealing a new suit of clothes at his home.

Our BIRTHDAY

was last week and we still want to talk about it

We hope you'll forgive us for being a little boastful, but we were 72 last week, and we're still enjoying the glow of our anniversary sale.

Not that we are in the birthday business. There are 52 weeks in a year and over 1200 items in a grocery store. And we've built our name and fame on our week-in and week-out low prices and on the quality of those 1200 or so food items.

We do like to make a fuss over our birthday, but we're in the business of keeping the price of good food low every week in the year.

Japanese Troops Being Shifted In Manchuria Today

Large Scale Movements Of Japanese Troops Reported North Of Mukden

FIVE CHINESE ARE REPORTED KILLED

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEIPING, Nov. 2.—Large scale movements of Japanese troops were under way north of Mukden today following a surprise machine gun and artillery bombartment of Tunglio in which at least five Chinese were killed, according to advices reaching here from Manchuria.

The Japanese legation in Peiping issued a communique with regard to part of the Manchurian military activity, stating that 1100 troops were being withdrawn from Kirin in the direction of Changchun, a railroad center 50 miles of Kirin, and that other large withdrawals from the Kirin garrison would take place during the remainder of the week.

Forces Shifted

In Chinese circles the shifting of Japanese forces to Changchun, which is about 125 miles south of Harbin, were taken as partial confirmation of reports from Tokio and Mukden that a Japanese advance will shortly take place into Hei-Lungkiang Province despite the danger of a clash with Soviet Russian troops now massed on the Manchurian border.

It was pointed out that the Japanese ultimatum to General Machang-Shan, head of the Hei-Lungkiang government at Tsitsihar, to repair wrecked bridges on the Japanese owned Supingkai-Anganki railway expires tomorrow.

John Gailey Glenn Passes Away Sunday

Well Known And Highly Respected Citizen Passes Away Sunday Night Following Illness

John Gailey Glenn, one of the few remaining survivors of the famous 100th Pennsylvania (Roundhead) Volunteer Infantry, a native of Lawrence county, and a prominent resident for many years of Slippery Rock, Pa., passed away at 12:30 o'clock Monday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Houk, of New Concord, Ohio, where he had been residing for the past few years. Death occurred following an illness of four weeks, due to infirmities of his advanced age, which developed into pneumonia.

Mr. Glenn was born January 4, 1840 in Plaingrove, Lawrence county, Pa., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Glenn, pioneer residents of the district and was in his ninety-second year. He went from Plaingrove to Slippery Rock, where he resided until the death of his wife, Mary Ann Brenneman Glenn, which occurred January 2, 1926, when he went to New Concord to live with his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Houk, at whose home he died.

He was widely known throughout Lawrence and Butler counties and his demise occasioned wide spread regret among the many people by whom he was held in the highest esteem.

He had an active part in the strenuous times of the Civil war, as a result of being associated with the Roundhead regiment, which was one of the most active units of the Union forces, during that struggle. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Slippery Rock United Presbyterian church.

Mr. Glenn was preceded in death by his wife, also two sons, Harry and Clifford Glenn who died a number of years ago in Arizona where they made their home.

He is survived by the following children, Samuel B. Glenn of St. Marys, West Virginia; Thomas A. Glenn of Butler, Pa.; William H. Glenn of this city; Mrs. Nell Patton of College Corners, Ohio; Mrs. Margaret Houk of New Concord, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Hunter of this city.

His body will be taken to Slippery Rock where services will be held at the United Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. J. Harvey McCormick, the pastor, in charge. Burial will be made in Slippery Rock cemetery.

Heffran Lauded For Suggestion Of Gasoline Tax

Scores Of Telegrams And Letters Received By Rep. Heffran Of Charleroi

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 2.—Scores of telegrams and letters, some derogatory but mostly laudatory, poured in today on Legislator James T. Heffran, of Washington county, following his proposal that an additional tax of one cent be levied on gasoline sales to provide about $750,000 for unemployment relief.

Heffran will present his bill during the special session of the legislature which convenes next Monday. All funds collected by the proposed gasoline tax would be expended to pay labor in the construction of State highways, the materials and equipment to be furnished by the State Highway department.

Make First Arrest On New Arms Edict

Alleged Gun Law Violator Held In $1,000 Bail, Released For Hearing

A city man, George Joseph, 35 Reiber street, is the first in the county to be arrested, arraigned and released in bail of $1,000 to await a hearing before a local alderman on a charge of violating the new state law which prohibits carrying a revolver without a special permit from local authorities.

Joseph was arrested by State highway patrolmen and a local constable in the Star pool room, West Long avenue Saturday night. The authorities report they found a .32 Colt automatic with eight bullets. Joseph was released in bail of $1,000 for a hearing before Alderman Marshall on Wednesday.

Mrs. David Tobin Injured In Crash

Machine Collides With Pole On West Middlesex Road, Sunday

When a dog running alongside the New Wilmington-West Middlesex highway darted out into the road directly into the front wheels of a car which David Tobin, Highland avenue, was driving, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Tobin temporarily lost control of the machine and it careened into a right-hand ditch telephone pole, injuring his wife severely and damaging the sedan. Tobin and a sister were unhurt.

Mrs. Tobin, brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital, was reported today to have suffered a fractured arm and leg and a painful cut about the forehead. Her condition is not serious.

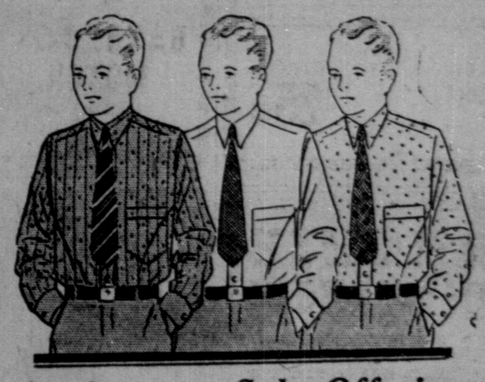

Mr. Tobin and his sister, Mrs. Sadie Broadman, South Mill street, suffered only from shock.

The three were enroute to Cleveland in Mr. Tobin's sedan at the time, heading toward Sharon where a friend was to have joined them. They had planned to visit Mrs. Broadman's husband, Samuel Broadman, now confined in the Cleveland Clinic hospital.

As they neared the Top-o-the-World dance pavilion, a dog, running alongside the road, dashed directly in the path of the Tobin car, and Mr. Tobin swung to miss it. The heavy sedan swayed toward the righ hand ditch and crashed into the pole.

First aid was administered to Mrs. Tobin at the accident scene, and later an ambulance brought her here.

Camp Phillips' Affairs, Retold To Scout Board, Show Camp Still Growing

Final echoes of the past summer's program at Camp John M. Phillips of the Boy Scouts, located north of Rose Point along the picturesque Slippery Rock, were heard late Friday afternoon at a meeting of the upper county members of the Lawrence county council executive board in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Chairman Louis B. Round of the council's camp committee presented his annual report on activities of the summer for the approval of the board. After formal adoption the summary was mailed to national headquarters in New York.

"Our camp report showed that Camp Phillips was up to its usual high standard and even beyond it in several respects," commented Scout Executive Herbert Horton today.

Rating Goes Up

Scout attendance, it was revealed, increased 20 per cent over the summer of 1930, with 175 different boys attending some time during the seven-week period. The camp's rating took a boost because it had present a full-time medical officer to supervise the health of the boys. The fire protection facilities were improved in different ways and underwent a thorough inspection by Chief Fire Warden Zerbey, Clarion, head of the state's forest fire wardens.

A national office man, Charles Maller, New York, and F. G. McIntosh, chairman of region three's camping committee, were visitors at the camp at different times. They were heartily satisfied with conditions as they found them.

During periods immediately prior to and following the Boy Scout camp season other organizations shared the accommodations for a week or so. New Castle's Girl Scouts used the cabins, as did the tri-county boys' farm conference and the deputy commissioners of the Allegheny county council for their anual conference. Other outings also occurred there.

During the honor courts there a total of 12 boys were advanced to first-class rank; 21 to second-class; 107 merit badges were awarded and two star, five life and one eagle badge were given out.

Handle Camp Affairs

Members of the council's camp committee, which supervises the general camp program, are Chairman Round, Ira Ramsey, W. G. Ayres, this city, and Earle Young, Ellwood City.

Toward the close of the board meeting Mr. Round was given authority to obtain supervision for the camp during the coming winter. Council affairs in general were found to be in excellent shape.

Only a brief discussion arose concerning the transfer of Boy Scout headquarters from its present Greer building location to the City Rescue Mission building, definite action being delayed until later.

New officers for the council for 1931-1932 will be nominated at the November meeting of the board, with the annual business meeting and election slated for December.

President Dr. C. J. Williamson presided yesterday. Those present were Dr. G. S. Bennett, L. B. Round, Rex L. Patch, Frank F. Fischer, Ralph F. Davis, R. L. Boyd, E. B. Hawkins, C. T. Metzler, Rev. A. M. Stump, William Toner and Executive Horton.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Until you have driven through Pittsburgh on a big football day, you can't talk much about traffic. It's not only a job, it's an experience. One that takes your time and your patience.

Saturday was the Tech-Notre Dame game and some of us from New Castle got into downtown Pittsburgh just in time to hit the early swirl of the fans. They were headed for the stadium and we were headed for the big game at Turtle Creek.

Had we gone in over the Point Bridge we could have gone out the boulevard and saved time but our route lay over the Sixth street bridge with no chance to turn towards the boulevard and from downtown to Oakland we went out Forbes street.

Every street for a mile or two was blocked solid with cars, police whistles were blowing frantically, horns added to the din, and street cars practically quit business. It was a first class mess.

Turtle Creek was glad to see the folks from New Castle and made this fact very apparent. They are sportsmen and while they were tickled pink they won, they extended every courtesy to the visitors. They remembered the courteous treatment they received in New Castle a year ago and wanted to repay it.

Several of the policemen on duty at the field had been to New Castle the previous year and remembered the cold weather. "I was frozen stiff" said one cop. "If I never remember another game I'll remember that one for the weather."

Turtle Creek is located among a lot of hills, really the foothills of the mountains. As a result the streets are narrow and the football field is laid out at the foot of one long ridge.

Westminster graduates were very much in evidence in Turtle Creek. Fawcett, a former star of the blue and white was the head linesman. John Trevaskis, another former player is the director of the high school drum corps and teaches there. Peresyni, who you recall a couple of years ago at Westminster is teaching Latin in the Turtle Creek High, and several others were around the field.

Now that Hallowe'en is over you can clean off your front porch. Those tomatoes you have been collecting, one at a time, for the past two weeks are about done, and the kids seem to have called everything off.

The New Castle Motor Club motorcade to Turtle Creek Saturday took a by-pass at Warrendale, and a number of the cars got confused. Some of them went one way and others got into Pittsburgh.

British Labor Leader Is Dead

Arthur James Cook, Secretary Of Miners Federation Dies After Illness

WAS OUTSTANDING FIGURE IN MINES

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Arthur James Cook, 46, secretary of the miners federation of Great Britain and one of England's outstanding labor leaders, died today at a hosptial here after a month's illness.

Cook went to jail in 1918 and 1921 when he clashed with the authorities over his conduct of mine strikes, and in 1925 he became known as "Emperor Cook" when he urged labor organizations to adopt extreme measures in enforcing demands for wage increases, especially in the coal mines.

Born in Somerset, the son of a soldier, Cook worked as an underground miner for 21 years before he rose to power as a labor leader. He was a member of the General Council of the Trade Union Congress and served on three government coal commissions. He was also the author of a number of books and pamphlets on labor problems.

Engine Whistle Causes Alarm

Whistle Sticks On B. And O. Locomotive, Causing Apprehension

New Castle residents were somewhat alarmed Saturday evening when a whistle on a locomotive of the B. and O. railroad at their New Castle Junction yards became stuck and could not be released, continuing to blow for many minutes.

Thoughts of a train wreck, or fire, flashed through the minds of many, and many inquiries were started to determine the cause.

How Old Is Prehistoric Man?

Science Reaches Back Through Thousands of Years to Fix Date of Earliest Known Human Beings

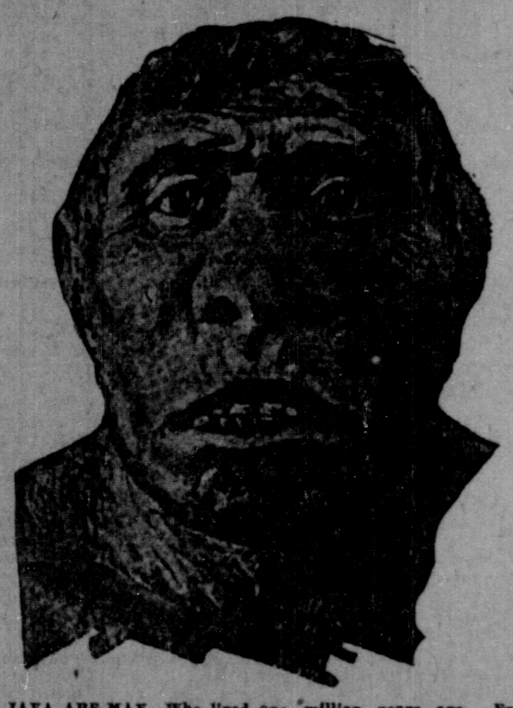

CRO-MAGNAN ARTISTS AT WORK —A drawing made by Charles R. Knight under the direction of Henry Fairfield Osborn reproduced from his "Men of the Old Stone Age."

THE "OLD MAN" OF CRO-MAGNAN—Front face and profile after the model by J. H. McGregor.

MODERN CUBIST INSPIRATION—Side view of a female figurine in soapstone found in the grottoes de Grimaldi near Mentone. This may be cited as proof of the cubists' claim that they are returning to primitive.

THE JAVA APE-MAN—Who lived one million years ago. From the model by J. H. McGregor.

ONE million years ago (count 'em—1,000,000) there walked erect upon this earth a being whose skull is carefully preserved in a European museum, and whom many have called the father of man. A brief matter of only 50,000 years ago, by a most conservative estimate, men were laying away their dead and placing beside them their earthly possessions, in anticipation of an after life, while 30,000 years ago, which to an anthropologist is almost modern, there lived in Central Europe a race of men highly developed and using excellent tools, and, in some ways at least, superior to the present-day man.

But beyond these dates there is no record of any life except that of mammals and the lower form of reptiles and molusks. Whether science, through the recent finding of a skull in Patagonia, will be forced to revise its data remains to be seen.

This is most unlikely, however, since the mistake was made of removing the skull from its original environment, by means of which it might have been catalogued and dated. When an anthropologist uncovers a skull, the remains of a prehistoric animal, human bones of whatever sort, or even implements, any of which are unfamiliar to him, his first step is to call in a geologist, who, by the formation of the rock or the strata in which the fossil was formed, can immediately place its age. And unless there exist similar fossils with which it intimately tallies this is the sole way by which its time is known.

Some Computations.

One method of measuring the age of the world, and also of the different strata, is by computing the length of time which it takes to form a certain strata and then multiplying by the number of stratas. This method gives something like 30,000,000 years, which the biologist complains is not nearly enough. Looking back at civilization within the memory of man and seeing how little we have progressed, the biologist asks us to realize how impossible to build up the organic world in a mere 30,000,000 years The newest method of studying the age of Mother Earth is through radio-activity. This uses the knowledge of the action of uranium on lead and of the amount of the latter, and also the prevalence of radium in practically all rocks.

Dating the Deposits.

Denudation and deposition; that is, the washing away of earth loam by rivers redeposit it in layers in another section, seems by far, the most practical of measuring time and of placing age both of the formation and which This is something of the layman can grasp. ... the ceaseless action of the slow-moving river, carrying the gravels and sands to the delta at its mouth. The fertilization of the land bordering the Nile is well known. And we are ready to believe what the scientist tells us in regard to the time it takes to form a strata in this way.

For convenience, the geologist has divided his time into periods: the primary or Palaezoic, the age of invertebrates and fishes; the Secondary or Mesozoic, the age of reptiles and feeble birds and mammals. These two occupied from 30,000,000 to 90,000,000 years, according to the method of computing, but assuredly no less. The Tertiary, lasting 4,000,000 years, preceded the Quarternary, which has taken the last 1,000,000 years up to the present and holds all that is known of man. So that if the Patagonian skull is really proven to be in the Tertiary period it must antedate by several epochs the "Pithecanthropus erectus," or the "ape-man who walked erect," to give him his everyday name, and which is the oldest known specimen.

The Java Ape-Man.

He was discovered in 1891 by Dr. Eugene Dubois, a surgeon of Holland, in the East Indian Island of Java. By the formation in which the skeleton parts were found, it was easily placed in the early Pleistocene period, and the age fixed at 1,000,000 years. Dr. Dubois had set out with the avowed intention of finding the "missing link," but the most that can be said for it is that it approaches this long-sought thing. Anthropologists are divided on the subject, and call "Pithecanthopus erectus" a man with simian characteristics, and, again, an ape with human likenesses.

The skull is low, with a narrow, receding forehead. Its capacity is about 850 to 900 cubic centimeters, or about one and a half times as much as a large gorilla, and one-half that of modern man.

Succeeding the pithecanthropus came other sections of skeletons, all found in Europe, the first Heidelberg whose age was half that of the Java ape-man, and the second at Piltdown, about one fourth. But it was not until the peak of the last glacial formation that whole skeletons were found which could be called primitive man. And even these, 50,000 to 100,000 years ago, were so very primitive that they are not classed as a "homo sapiens," to which class modern man belongs.

The man of 50,000 years ago is called the Neanderthal man, and he has left behind him many skeletons and implements by which we may read his history. He had a massive head, with a brain content of 1,550 cubic centimeters, and was about the height of a Japanese. He did many remarkable things; he had some sort of a shelter; he fashioned tools, and he knew the use of fire. But still science refuses him as an ancestor of the human race today, placing him, like the pithecanthropus, more as a sort of great-uncle than a grandfather.

These Were Real Men.

And it was not until the Cro-Magnan people came on earth, 30,000 years ago, that anthropoligists considered anyone worthy of being the parents of present civilization. Here, indeed, are ancestors of whom we may well be proud. "Unquestionably the finest race the world has ever known," one scientist declares.

One of the most striking instances of this art was found in a cave at Altamira, Spain. This is a polychrome wall painting of a bull, and is in black, and shades of brown, red and yellow. Painted more than 30,000 years ago! How do we know this? Because over it is a covering of stalagmites which geologists found had taken 30,000 years to form!

These people appear to have made rather a ceremonial out of burials, which had been buried or left with the dead bodies.

Ancestor of Cubist Art.

They are described as having faces unusually broad for their height, which was a distinguished mark of this age. The nose was narrow and aquiline; the upper part of the face almost vertical as in the highest types; the chin massive and the eye sockets shallow. There is a disparity of height between the two sexes, the woman apparently not having reached her full development. There are many statuettes discovered which seem to have been used as a part of religious ceremonials. And strange figures in soapstone, so bizarre that they have been referred to as the ancestor of the modern cubist art.

Throughout the length and breadth of Spain, France and parts of Italy, Germany and Belgium, these caves, buried under many stratums and rich with human skeletons, are to be found. Buried with them are the bones of such extinct animals as the cave lion, the cave bear, the wooly rhinoceros, the mammoth, the reindeer, which has long been extinct in this region. There are literally thousands of flint implements, from the rudest sorts, which may have been shaped only by nature and were used as far back as the pithecanthropus, 1,000,000 years ago, to the unmistakably man-made and polished knife-like blades of the old Stone Age.

There is no more authentic method of placing the age of any skeleton than by the impiements with which these are associated. For so closely have the latter been traced, and so neatly does the chronology tally, that a scientist knows at once to what period it belongs. One sees at once that when a flint is taken from the bones of a wooly rhinoceros, now extinct some 80,000 years, it is not difficult to know the age of the man. who used and made the flint.

Placed as early as 28,000 B. C., there was found an infant skeleton covered with small perforated shells as a sort of mantle. And a male skeleton of same period had a crown of perforated shells. A skeleton known as the "Man of Mentone" was protected from disturbance by heavy stones, and its head was encircled by shells, colored red. The implements of chase were carefully placed about the forehead and chest. There are many instances of objects of food

ONE OF AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR BOOKS

DANIEL WEBSTER is more famous than Noah Webster, but no words written or spoken by the most renowned of American orators have been so eagerly and so frequently read as the words that Noah Webster put into his dictionary. It did not have many rivals when it first appeared, in 1806, but this was merely preliminary to the greater dictionary that was published in 1828, the first scholarly and comprehensive book of the kind brought out by an American. It has many worthy rivals today but it is still one of the most popular books in daily use.

Noah Webster was born in West Hartford, Conn., in 1758. His father was a farmer and a man of considerable character for he mortgaged his farm to send the lad to Yale. Noah Webster studied law after his graduation and began to practice, but he preferred teaching and decided that he could write better textbooks than those in use. So he compiled a book that appealed to thrifty school committees. It was a spelling book, a grammar and a reader in one. He got a royalty of less than a cent a copy from it, but the sale was so great that this sufficed to support him. Before the Civil war broke out, the book was selling at the rate of more than 1,000,000 copies annually.

Webster was so busy with teaching and traveling and putting together text books that he apparently did not waste much time over love affairs. He mentions girls in his letters and diaries but they did not cause him great perturbation until he was 29 when he met Rebecca Greenleaf in Philadelphia. If her brother-in-law's testimony may be accepted, it is not surprising that Rebecca turned the young student's mind from textbooks. "She is a charming girl," wrote the brother-in-law, "and I wonder that her fine eyes and amiable deportment have made so much havoc among the beaux."

A few months later we learn, from family letters, that the future dictionary-maker has proposed and that Miss Greenleaf has admitted more than a mere liking for him. They were indeed anxious to marry, but Webster was not receiving much from his textbook and he had no assured prospects. Miss Greenleaf's family liked him, but they did not want her to marry until he was more sure of an income. The marriage was postponed, but in the Fall of 1789 Rebecca Greenleaf was married to Noah Webster and their long and happy married life began. Children were born, his law practice and his royalties gave him money enough to live upon, and the young couple never regretted that they had finally decided to marry, even if the bridegroom's prospects had not been wholly bright. The bride came from Boston and the things that she did not know about housekeeping were at first somewhat shocking to Webster's thrifty mother, and the younger woman, accustomed to city ways, was shocked by the rude customs of the farm.

They lived in Hartford, in New York and in New Haven until 1812, when they settled at Amherst, where they resided for ten years. Then they returned to New Haven. A trip abroad of a year was largely spent in working upon the famous dictionary, which contained thousands of definitions never before published. Webster lived to be 85 years of age.

Fortune and Family Brought From Frozen North

FROM the frozen lands of the Arctic Circle to his boyhood home in the tropical city of Honolulu, after an absence of many years, was a big jump for Thomas Emslie. To his Eskimo wife and the three sons of the couple, none of whom had ever before been out of the Northland, the change of climate and scenes is inexpressibly great. What is still more wonderful to Emslie's relatives and former neighbors is that he brought back with him from the mysterious wilds where he had been for so many years a fortune of nearly a quarter-million dollars, all in cash, it is said.

It was in 1892 that Emslie, then a poor boy, signed up for a whaling cruise in Alaskan waters. He quit the boat at one of the far Northern whaling stations and set out for the interior of Alaska. He became a helper to a veteran trapper, and it was not long until he was in the business on his own account. He traveled up and down the streams and along the coast of the Arctic region, trapping white fox, polar bears and other wild game that possess valuable furs. Far from civilization he lived year after year, content to make his home at intervals in villages of the Eskimos, with occasional visits to the trading posts where he disposed of his accumulted stocks of furs.

One Summer day when ice had gone out of the rivers and all nature was singing with joy in the remote Northland romance entered the heart of Emslie. In a little village of Eskimos he met the girl whom he took to himself as his wife. It was a short courtship, conducted according to native custom, and that it was a love match is proved by the devotion of the couple to each other and the mutual affection that they bear for their three sturdy sons that were the outcome of their mating. George, the elder, is nearing man's estate. Thomas is next in age, and then comes Joseph, aged 10 years to whom the Hawaiian Islands, with their vistas of towering cocoanut palms, ever-blooming hibiscus and innumerable other flowering plants and trees are an endless cause of charm and mystery.

Typical Hawaiian greetings were accorded Emslie and his little family upon their arrival. Relatives and boyhood friends who knew of their coming met them at the docks and placed fragrant leis of flowers around their necks; alohas were shouted and the soft strains of native chants and music came to their ears. To Emslie it was an overwhelming welcome to his island home, but to his wife and sons it was all strange. To them it was dreamland—the realization of the fairy-like stories the big, brawny and and brave white man who was husband and father to them had told as they were gathered around the Winter fires in the far Northland.

It was admitted by Emslie that it is going to take time for his wife and boys to adjust themselves to the new conditions and surroundings of these tropical islands, but he is certain that they will be contented and happy here. They have come to make it their home.

Of his life in the Northern wilds Emslie has little to say. It was a struggle against obstacles that at times seemed to be almost unsurmountable, but slowly and surely as the years went by his fortune was increased until the time when he could leave the old life behind and come back to the island of his birth and enjoy with his family the fruits of the days that he had spent in hardships and self-denial.

Plans Complete For Poppy Day Sale Saturday

Perry S. Gaston Post Of American Legion Will Hold Annual Event

SCHOOL GIRLS TO SELL EMBLEMS

Plans have virtually been completed by the committee in charge, for the annual Poppy Day of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, which will be held here on Saturday, November 7.

The event is held each year on the Saturday nearest to Armistice Day, as a means of raising funds for the relief work of the post.

The various committees, most of whom have been taking care of this work from year to year, have the arrangements well in hand, and Saturday morning will see several hundred school girls take to the business and residential sections of the city with their poppies.

Because of the extreme need for funds this year, General Chairman Clarence A. Patterson urges all friends of the Perry S. Gaston Post to be as liberal as possible and to show the girls who are conducting the sale every courtesy possible.

The girls who will sell the poppies this year will be recruited from the senior and junior high schools of the city and will be chaperoned by members of the faculty.

CHEST CLINIC IS POSTPONED FOR DAY

Because of election day, the Chest Clinic held under the auspices of the State Department of Health and the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society will be postponed until Wednesday, Dr. H. C. Harper, county medical director stated today. The hours will be from 2 to 4 o'clock.

All those who have been regularly attending the clinics and newcomers are requested to note this change in the date of the clinic.

Challenge Regime

Resentment against Provisional President Getulio Vargas (above), of Brazil, has blazed forth into open revolt against the man who overthrew the Constitutional Government of President Washington Luis a year ago. The rebellion, which broke out at Pernambuco, is believed due to Vargas' appointment of men from his own province to all important official positions, to the exclusion of all others.

Mayor's Relief Committee Will Meet At 8 P. M.

A meeting of the members of the Mayor's Relief Committee will be held at the city council chamber in city hall, at 8 o'clock tonight, it is annaunced. Chairman James K. Love states that it is urgent that all members attend.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SEVENTH WARD:

Having received the nomination for alderman on the Republican and Democratic tickets, I wish the voters to know that it has been my policy to save the tax-pawers costs.

Having served as alderman for the past twenty-four years, I believe my experience in that office fully qualifies me to serve the people for a further term.

All kinds of unfounded stories are being circulated in behalf of my opponent and in an effort to defeat me, but I promise, if elected, to give to the people of Lawrence county a "square deal".

A vote for Coates is a vote for an honest and efficient administration. I am seventy years of age and I appeal to the well thinking voters of the Seventh Ward.

Thanking you for your past support and for your vote in this election, I am,

Respectfully yours,
H. G. COATES.

Mills' Compensation Status Indefinite

Answering a recent request of City council, the Aetna Life Insurance Company on Monday informed city council that in case of accident to Charles S. Mills who is serving as a fireman, the company would have to have a ruling from somebody in authority as to Mills' status before they could provide compensation in accordance with the workmen's Compensation Board.

Mills is serving as a fireman but upon advice of counsel, City Controller Greer refused to pass his salary vouchers on the grounds that he was not legally appointed. Council then wanted to know who was responsible in case of accident. The letter was filed.

Hallowe'en Is Quietly Observed

Hallowe'en was quietly observed here Saturday evening. There was no general celebration in the downtown district as in former years, but many mummers were on the street.

In the residential district, many of the children went about from door to door, attired in Hallowe'en costumes. They were quite orderly for the most part, and few reports of property damage were made.

To the Voters of New Castle

Because of the fact that there have been circulated erroneous reports concerning the identity of John M. Gardner, Independent candidate for Council, I wish to say that I have known Mr. Gardner for forty-five years as the son of the late James A. Gardner, former City Solicitor; and know that he is in no way connected with any other family of this name.

Mr. Gardner entered the law office of his father as a student in 1896, and, after being admitted to practice, was associated with him for nearly twenty-five years. For many of these years my own office was adjacent to the offices of James A. and John M. Gardner, and I am fully conversant with all the facts relative to their business association. Because of these facts Mr. Gardner has my unqualified endorsement as a candidate for City Council in the coming election.

ELLWOOD HIGH TEAM DEFEATS MONACA 27-0

Ellwood High Players Show Unexpected Strength In Game Saturday

Play Well Both On Offense And Defense In Battle

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—Combined with a strong running attack and a clever use of the aerial game Ellwood City high trounced Monaca high school Saturday afternoon at Lincoln field in a fast and interesting football game.

It became evident after the first few plays that the blue and white machine was superior and was out for a win. The fans did not have long to wait for a score. After Neff had kicked off to Birner on the 25, who advanced it to the 30, Ellwood took possession of the oval on a fumble by Birner and started a straight drive for the goal. Frisk, Wilson and Vanderillo took turns at carrying the ball, which ended up with the former going off right tackle for the first score. Neff's placement kick for the extra point was wide. Three first downs were made enroute.

The Monacans had found it difficult to penetrate Ellwood's stalwart line, and therefore resorted to an excessive use of the air, which gave them eight completed passes out of 21 tries. Two first downs were made through scrimmage and the remaining four via the aerial route. Ellwood garnered 13 first downs and completed five out of eight flings for big gains and one for a touchdown. The locals failed to score only in the closing chapter when they lost the pigskin on the 5-yard line by a fumble.

Wilson Plays Well.

Dick Wilson, converted fullback, played the game of his life as he bucked the line for first downs, skirted the ends for big gains, received two long passes and accounted for two touchdowns. The whole backfield worked smoothly last Saturday, with everyone getting his share of ball toting. Friskand Vanderillo did their part in keeping the visitors guessing and Bobby Kennedy played a whale of a game as field general. His plays were well selected and functioned nearly every time. The boys did fairly well in their aerial defense but there is still room for improvement.

After the first few minutes of the game Ellwood was never in doubt of winning the contest and in the second quarter Coaches Gills and Lloyd sent in their second string backfield. The line proved to be a stone wall against he thrust of the Monaca backs who were either stopped on the line of scrimmage or thrown for losses. The visitors were punting out of danger for most of the game.

The score early in the second quarter came as a result of a 12-yard pass from Kennedy to Neff which placed the ball on Monaca's 8-yard stripe. Wilson failed to gain on the next play and Frisk tore off four yards around left end. In two more plays Wilson bucked it over for the marker. Neff's placement kick was blocked, the score being 12-0 for Ellwood. The remainder of the contest in the second half was played in midfield with the invaders attempting pass after pass in an effort to score. They had completed a lateral pass when the half ended with the score remaining unchanged.

Regulars Return.

The original lineup started the third quarter. Neff booted to Shanks on the 20 who was downed in his tracks. Monaca gave up hopes to gain through the line and punted on the third down. Kennedy received Calhoun's bad punt and advanced it to Monaca's 19 from where the local started another drive for a touchdown. In three plays Wilson and Vanderillo gained 11 yards and then Frisk lost four. Another plunge by Wilson netted two yards, after which Frisk tossed a beautiful pass to Vanderillo over the goal line from the 10-yard line for the third score. Again Captain Sam Neff's place kick was wide. Score: Ellwood 18, Monaca 0.

Calhoun received Neff's kick on his own 5-yard line and advanced it 15 yards. He failed to gain through the center of the line in two attempts and on the next play he skirted left end for eight yards. Calhoun decided to punt on the last down, which was received by Wilson on the 20 and advanced to the 38. This was the start of the next drive for another marker. Vanderillo gained a yard through center on a split buck play and Wilson made a first down through the same hole on a spinner play. He then tore off 14 yards off right tackle to bring the oval to Monaca's 44. Vanderillo got three yards through left guard and Frisk in two plays made a first and 10 on Monaca's 20. Then on the next play, a spinner, Wilson dashed the remaining distance, eluding tacklers, for another score. He was permitted to buck the line for the extra point, making the score stand at 25-0 for Ellwood.

After the kickoff the visitors resorted to the air, which resulted in three completed passes and a gain of 35 yards. Kennedy, Ellwood's quarterback, intercepted Calhoun's next fling on his own 40. The period closed after one play.

The last quarter found the Berkman men getting desperate. They tried every available trick to break into the scoring column. Coaches Howard Gills and Todd Lloyd were given cause to worry again as Ellwood's pass defense began to break down. Up to this time the backfield had played remarkably on the defense. The invaders had completed four of their eight passes in this chapter which was too consecutive to suit local fans.

Callahan was on the flinging end of all passes and was also the team's punter and best ground gainer. Foley, Coombs, Carey and Seery were on the receiving end of most of them.

Finally Monaca was forced to kick which Ellwood received on its own 15 and advanced to the 25. Frisk got six yards around right end on a lateral pass and Wilson five thru center for a first down. He got two more yards through the same hole and then attempted a pass which was incomplete. On the next three plays Wilson and Vanderillo made 19 yards, placing the ball on the 40 stripe. Then Kennedy threw a 15-yard pass to Wilson who ran the ball to the 5-yard line, making the total distance 35 yards, attempt by Wilson through left guard failed to give any yardage, and on the following down he fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Monaca. Callahan of Monaca attempted a pass from punt formation behind Ellwood's goal which was incomplete. He then endeavored to circle right end but was tackled by Neff behind the goal to give the local two more points and their final score of the day.

The remainder of the game was practically played by substitutes. Coach Berkman had been continually sending in substitutions to check Ellwood's ends who were smearing their plays. Calhoun remained to throw passes until the final whistle. The locals had intercepted two passes at this time. Pander had just intercepted the last of these and had time for one more play when the game ended, with the final score being 27-0 for Ellwood.

The home team's showing was not altogether surprising Saturday. They had shown power in the two previous contests in which they were defeated because of a poor pass defense. Fine improvement was revealed in this also as well as their running attack which was a spectacle to behold. This makes the fourth consecutive season that a blue and white machine has defeated Monaca. Ellwood's forward wall performed brilliantly, proving to be very capable blockers and tacklers. If the backfield functions as smoothly with the line in future contests, Ellwood will undoubtedly win the remainder of its games. Captain Sam Neff, Caesar Butler, Joe Welsh and Red Vogt were towers of strength on the local eleven.

Calhoun was the outstanding performer for the visitors in the backfield while Foley, Coombs and Popko were the best bets in the line.

Mrs. Mary Kern Dies Suddenly

One Of Ellwood's Oldest Citizens Succumbs To Short Illness

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Mary Ellen Kern, 67, wife of William A. Kern, superintendent of the Steel Car Forge company, was suddenly called by death about 4 p. m. Sunday. Mrs. Kern had been taken ill just three days previously and was expected to recover nicely. Her sudden death was quite a shock to many friends.

Mrs. Kern was born in Louray, Va., the daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Modesatt. Mr. and Mrs. Kern have been residents of this city for the past 37 years.

The deceased leaves her husband, one daughter, Edna Lee Kern, a teacher in the Wilkinsburg high school; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Richards of Cleveland, O., and Mrs. A. B. Jack of Westville, O., and one niece, Mary Richards of Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Kern had been a staunch and active worker of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the home with Rev. Arthur M. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. He will be assisted by Rev. W. Frank Rever of Pittsburgh, a former pastor of the local church. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

Hallowe'en Party Enjoyed By Friends

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl White of Wurtemburg delightfully entertained a few friends at a fine Hallowe'en party at their home on last Friday evening. The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Games, contests and dancing were the features of the evening. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess later in the evening, much to the satisfaction of those present. She was assisted in serving by Miss Mary Zeigler.

PARTY FOR SON

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—Saturday from two until five in the afternoon Mrs. George Hazen of Ellport, entertained a group of little folks in her home as a birthday celebration for her son, Glenn, who reached his fourth anniversary.

Mrs. Merle Wiltrout assisted the hostess in entertaining the tots through the afternoon and as they went through the games they were presented with many novel favors. The honor guest received a number of lovely and useful gifts.

Following the play period, Hallowe'en novelties marked places for Violet, Ethel May and Daisy Vinroe, Maxine Hollerman, Beryl Wimer, Betty Rutter, Dorothy Wiltrout, Norman and John Fox and the small host, at a prettily decorated table where a birthday luncheon was served.

SAMUEL W. CRAWFORD

Independent Candidates for COUNTY COMMISSIONER

FRANKLIN R. WOODS

Tomorrow, Tuesday, November 3, 1931, is election day, at which time you will select those who will manage the affairs of our City and County for the next four years. We have endeavored to show you that party loyalty has been replaced by gang loyalty in our County. There is no such thing as party loyalty in Lawrence County and has not been since the present gang got control of the party and substituted personal greed for party interests. If you vote the straight Republican ticket in Lawrence Co. at tomorrow's election you encourage irregularities in public office as shown in the political advertisement of Mr. Eroe in The News of Saturday, Oct. 31st. Now is the time for those loyal to higher ideals to vote for the candidates who have the best interests of our people at heart and will not be controlled by a few selfish politicians. There is to be a sheet issued by these same politicians, too late for us to answer, wherein abuse is used in lieu of truthful answers as to why Lawrence County is in the political condition it now suffers. Vote for us and we promise you an honest and efficient administration of the County's business, in the interest of all of our tax payers.

At this time, we wish to express our thanks to the public for the courteous treatment accorded us, and to assure you that we stand squarely back of every statement we have made.

Memorial Service Next Sunday Night

American Legion To Conduct Annual Memorial Service In Lincoln Auditorium

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—On Sunday evening November 8, the J. Wilbur Randolph Post, American Legion of Ellwood City, will hold their annual Memorial Day services in the Lincoln School building.

An excellent program has been arranged for the occasion, coming to a brilliant climax with an address by Paul V. McNutt, past national commander of the American Legion.

This will be good news to all ex-service men as well as to hosts of others who know something about Paul McNutt.

Mr. McNutt is a fluent speaker and during his administration he endeared himself to ex-service men throughout the world because of his untiring efforts to benefit the disabled veterans.

Undoubtly this will be one of the greatest Memorial Services ever to be staged in this community and due to the fact that a great many people will want to hear Mr. McNutt special arrangements have been to take care of the crowds.

The Lincoln Auditorium will seat about 1200 but arrangements have been made with the Board of Education to take care of the overflow by the use of the Lincoln Gymnasium. Amplifiers will be installed in the gymnasium so that the program may be heard by those unfortunate enough to miss a place in the auditorium. All ex-service men will have seats reserved for them,—but in as much as the program must start promptly at 7:30 it is highly important that any one desiring to take advantage of the reserved space must come early. The doors of the auditorium will be opened at 7:00 but the program committee has stated very definitely that promptly at 7:30 the doors will be closed and the program start, which means that late comers will be admitted to the gymnasium only.

BAPTIST CHURCH

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—There will be a Sunday School Workers' Conference Tuesday evening at 7:30. All teachers and officers are urged to be present.

The mid-week prayer service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:45 and also an all day meeting of Group No. 1 of the Missionary Society.

On Thursday evening there will be a conference of the Beaver Baptist school and the B. Y. P. U. of this district.

EMMANUEL REFORMED

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 2.—The Boys Glee Club of the Emmanuel Reformed church will hold an important meeting this evening in the church rooms. This is the week's only activity.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Notice

Nov. 2, 1931

W. A. Eakin, Chairman
Republican County Committee.
Dear Sir:

Under political advertising, the statement is made that from 1923 to 1927, C. H. Milholland received $53,752.67 from the County. The inference being that it cost the County that amount for engineering service.

During my service of six years for the County, the Gardner Avenue Viaduct, Wampum-Chewton Viaduct and road work, Mt. Jackson Bridge over the Mahoning, with approaches, together with a number of smaller bridges were constructed in other parts of the County.

In the Gardner Avenue Viaduct, and also the Wampum Viaduct there were a number of other parties interested, who paid their allotted proportions of the cost, together with the cost of engineering. These costs were paid to the County and the County paid the engineering costs to the engineer, according to contract.

For your information I inform you that, during the said six years, the County costs of engineering were $25,995.20 or an average of $4,332.00 per year, which included engineering service, assistant engineers, inspectors, and costs of testing materials.

I note you say T. A. Gilkey received $17,080.15 for four years service, which would average $4,270.00 per year.

As the engineering work for the county is done on a percentage basis, the compensation an engineer receives, depends upon the amount of work performed.

I credit your misstatements to lack of knowledge of the records in your office, rather than an attempt to mislead anyone in their judgment.

Respectfully,
C. H. MILHOLLAND.

Be Sure and Vote Tuesday, Nov. 3rd

In my campaign for the office of County Controller I have refrained from personalities and have made an earnest endeavor merely to call to your attention the importance of this office and the necessity for choosing the right man.

In all fairness to my opponents I make no last-minute attacks either upon my opponents or upon their backers, to which attacks, if made, they would not have sufficient opportunity to defend. I trust that they will show the same courtesy and consideration to me.

The matter is in your hands and I have great confidence in your decision Tuesday.

I thank you.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

Zachary Taylor
7. Taylor At Matamoros

DURING THE SUMMER OF 1846, WHILE TAYLOR'S ARMY LAY AT MATAMOROS, THE AMERICAN PUBLIC, THRILLED BY THE FIRST VICTORIES AT PALO ALTO AND RESACA DE LA PALMA, KEPT CLAMORING FOR AN IMMEDIATE ADVANCE ON MEXICO CITY. ——o

BUT TAYLOR COULD NOT TAKE THE FIELD WITH AN UNTRAINED ARMY. HIS FORCE HAD NOW BEEN INCREASED TO 20,000 MEN, MOSTLY RAW RECRUITS. ADEQUATE SUPPLIES AND TRANSPORT FACILITIES WERE LACKING.

WORST OF ALL, THOUSANDS OF VOLUNTEERS FELL PREY TO FEVER. THE PESTILENCE SWEPT THROUGH THE CAMPS AND HUNDREDS DIED. MOST OF THE VOLUNTEERS HAD TO BE SENT BACK TO THE "STATES." —— TAYLOR'S ARMY DWINDLED AWAY.

MANY OF THE VOLUNTEER OFFICERS WERE WORSE THAN USELESS,-SHOWY POLITICAL APPOINTEES, ENTIRELY UNFITTED FOR THE ARDUOUS WORK THAT WAS IN STORE FOR TAYLOR'S ARMY.

WHEN TAYLOR FINALLY BEGAN HIS MARCH INTO MEXICO (SEPTEMBER, 1846) IT WAS WITH ONLY 6,000 MEN, HALF OF THEM TRUSTY REGULARS AND THE REST VOLUNTEERS.

TURTLE CREEK SCORES IN OPENING QUARTER TO TRIM NEW CASTLE

Dutchcot Crosses New Castle Goal Line In First Quarter From 1 Yard Line To Defeat Local Pigskin Catchers —Local Eleven Loses Chance To Score Three Times —New Castle Pulls "Statue Of Liberty" Play Which Almost scores In Third Period—Red And Black Clad Gridders Score 9 First Downs To 7 For Turtle Creek —Small Crowd Watches Thrilling Battle.

(Special To The News)

TURTLE CREEK, Pa., Nov. 2.—Playing before probably 2,500 fans, Turtle Creek Union high school's football team won a hard fought 6-0 game over Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh's New Castle high school team, Saturday afternoon at Union field.

Turtle Creek took the oval in the opening quarter and through straight football pushed the pigskin to the one yard line where Dutchcot bucked left guard for the winning touchdown. New Castle had the ball within the 10 yard line in three instances but lacked the essential punch to carry the pigskin over.

Kolodjeski kicked off to Westin on the 10, who was downed on the 30. Turtle Creek could not advance the ball and booted to the one yard line, where Westin fell on the oval. After trying one play which netted 2 yards, DeCarbo for New Castle kicked back to the 38 yard line.

Bair broke through left tackle for 2 yards. Westin skirted left tackle for a first down on the following play. A double pass Westin to Bair gained about 8 yards around left end for the home team. New Castle, it appeared could not stop the onward march of Coach Foxy Miller's eleven. A line buck by Westin brought the ball to the 15 yard line. Two more line plunges, one by Westin and another by Whigham, netted 6 more yards.

Dutchcot Tallies

Westin was stopped on the one yard line after Dutchcot made a first down. Bair tried the line, but it held and he failed to gain. Dutchcot took the ball on the next play and hit left guard for Turtle Creek's only touchdown. Bair's try for extra point via placement was too low. Score, New Castle 0, Turtle Creek 6.

After kicking off to New Castle, the Tin City eleven tried two plays which netted only a few yards.

Lane who had previously substituted for McIver fumbled the ball as Dutchcot recovered. But both sides were offside and New Castle received the ball. DeCarbo kicked out of bounds to the 25 yard line. Turtle Creek attempted two plays which failed to register any substantial gains. On the next play Turtle Creek fumbled and New Castle recovered on the 25.

The quarter ended after several minor plays with John Uram snatching a well directed pass from his brother Nick who was injected into the game early in the first quarter. The heave netted 5 yards and placed the ball on the 18 yard line. The quarter ended with Turtle Creek leading, 6-0.

At the start of the quarter Kominic took the ball thru center for a first down. Kominic gained 3 more yards out of bounds. A double pass, Nick to John Uram failed. Turtle Creek took the ball on downs. Bair carried the oval for 2 yards through the line. Bair punted out of bounds to the 21 yard line. The kick was partially blocked which caused the ball to travel only a short distance.

On two plays, one by Kominic and another by J. Uram around left, the red and black gridders from Lawrence county registered only 3 yards. On the fourth down Nick Uram heaved a pretty pass to his brother John, who juggled the ball and finally dropped it, giving Turtle Creek the ball on downs.

Unusual Play

Turtle Creek tried two plays and could not gain and decided to punt. Bair kicked to the 45 yard line. Turtle Creek was awarded the ball. Referee McFarland ruled that Sotus, New Castle backfield man, who had been substituted in the opening quarter was holding when the ball was up in the air, thus giving Turtle Creek the ball. After two more plays, Turtle Creek again booted to safety.

On four plays, New Castle netted another first down, when Kominic plunged the line for a first down. The half ended when John Uram hurled a six yard pass to Nocera. The pass gave New Castle a first down but the whistle sounded ending the half. Score, Turtle Creek 6, New Castle 0.

Lose Chance Again

Throughout the first and second quarters, a continous drizzle which later turned into hail was noted. At the start of the third quarter Kolodjeski, for New Castle kicked off out of bounds. The players again lined up and Kolodjeski kicked off to Whigham, who fumbled as Captain Crisci recovered for New Castle on the 17 yard mark.

Kominic hit the line for 2 yards. Kominic ran out of bounds for 1 yard. On the next play, John Uram ran right tackle for about 4 yards. The ball was on the 10 yard line. J. Uram zig zagged right guard for one half yard as New Castle lost the ball on downs. It was the second time New Castle had the ball on the 10 yard mark and lost it on downs.

Instead of kicking Turtle Creek started a march up the field. After Whigham was stopped in the line, a double pass, Westin to Bair, around the right side of the line registered a first down. Another double pass, this time Westin to Whigham, failed to gain. Bair kicked to J. Uram in mid-field.

Kominic bucked his way through the line for 5 yards. J. Uram gained 2 more yards through right tackle. Kominic annexed another first down on the next play. Nick Uram gained 3 yards through left guard. J. Uram on an off tackle made 2 more yards. Nick Uram hurled a short pass to J. Uram for a first down. Another pass, Nick to John Uram failed.

Nick Uram used a bit of strategy on the next play when he called for the Statue of Liberty play. John Uram took the oval from Nick's hand and executed a 12 yard scamper before being down. The play was good for a first down too. With the ball on the 9 yard line, the Turtle Creek wall again settled down and held. A double pass Kominic to J. Uram around left netted no gain. He lost 2 yards. Kominic hit the line for 4 yards bringing the ball to the 7 yard line.

Nick Uram called for a pass on the next play but the pass from center which was bad, forced him to carry the ball and he failed to gain. On the fourth down the Statue of Liberty play was again used with John taking the ball from Nick Uram, his brother. The play failed to gain any yardage and Turtle Creek received the ball on downs.

The third quarter ended here with Turtle Creek in possession of the ball. The score, Turtle Creek 6, New Castle 0. In the fourth quarter, New Castle repeatedly tried passes but these failed to carry the ball in the scoring zone. During the latter part of the quarter New Castle started down the field by scoring two first downs but the whistle blew right after Nick hurled a pass to John Uram for a first down. The final score, Turtle Creek 6, New Castle 0.

The game was fast throughout and was full of thrills. New Castle scored 9 first downs to 7 for Turtle Creek. The red and black eleven attempted 12 passes, 6 of which were good. Turtle Creek did not try a pass. The game was one of the cleanest played at Turtle Creek. Neither team drew a penalty. The two teams were evenly matched.

The Lawrence county team was a threat every time it had the ball but could not advance it over the line.

Titans Outplay Waynesburg But Lose By 7-6 Score On Saturday

Outgain, Outwit Famed Yellowjackets In Game Saturday

Siljander, Turner, Michaels Star For Blue And White

(Special To The News)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 2—Coach John Lawther's young Westminster College football team, gaining experience with each game, outplayed Waynesburg College, conqueror of Penn State, here Saturday but lost in the final quarter by a 7-6 score.

The Titans took the jump from the first of the contest, outpunted, outrushed, and outgained the Yellowjackets: tallied seven first downs to four for the Waynesburg eleven: and were the vicitims of some rather poor decisions of the officials.

The Titans gained 154 yards from scrimmage to 52 yards for Waynesburg. Titan ball carriers gained on almost every play, while Waynesburg backs were thrown for losses behind the line of scrimmage amounting to 30 yards.

Freak Penalties

Westminster was the victim of some freak penalties during the contest, losing 92 yards in this manner; while Waynesburg lost only 35 yards in this manner, mostly for two or more incompleted passes in a series.

Playing was on even terms for three periods in the matter of scoring, although Westminster dominated the play during most of the time. The fireworks were saved until the last quarter when a series of thrilling plays changed the scene of battle from one end of the field to the other with such speed that the spectators were made dizzy.

A high punt in the last period fell in a group of players on the Titan 29-yard line. Two Waynesburg players pushed Siljander into the ball as it hit the ground, and then Rollason recovered for the Jackets. From here, after two line plays, Ross passed to Donley who took two steps to go over the goal line for the score. Donnelly's placement was good.

Westminster Scores

After the kickoff and two exchanges of punts, with Westminster in possession of the ball on its own 20, Young and Staples carried six yards, and then Siljander tossed a pass to Hunneke which was good for 58 yards, placing the ball on the Waynesburg 18.

Michaels replaced Young in the backfield at this point. Michaels picked up two through the line, Staples added two more, and then Siljander tossed a pass over the goal line to Michaels for the touchdown. Staples hurried his placement a bit, and it was two feet under the crossbar.

Dean Turner, 138-pound quarterback for the Titans, seemed to give the "freshman" outfit the pep it needed to "click" on both offense and defense. When Currie, Jacket ace, was sent into the game, the Titan defense kept him bottled up so that at no time was he a threat. He gained 11 yards from scrimmage in nine attempts and was thrown for losses three times.

Play Well

John Rush, Bergholtz, O., freshman converted from a fullback to a guard, played an excellent defensive game. He broke through the Jacket line many times to stop ball carriers, and was first down the field to tackle receivers of punts. Pete Leyshock, Farrell, converted into an end, played well on both offense and defense.

Staples at fullback and Siljander at halfback were the best ground gainers from scrimmage, each man having a total of 32 yards. Franklin at center for the Titans played well, especially on forward pass defense. The rest of the Titans were easily at their best of the season, playing smart ball, and using teamwork to outsmart the favored but bewildered Yellowjackets.

For Waynesburg, Paul at center, Ross at quarter, Rollason at halfback and Wiley at tackle, played the best ball. Currie, the halfback star, who shone against Penn State and Grove City was held in check. Conley and Connelly, two other halfbacks were also held in check.

The lineups:

Waynesburg 7		Westminster 6
Holland	L E	Hunneke
Butterworth	L T	Regdon
Manuso	L G	Rose
Paul	C	Franklin

YOUNG GRIDDER IS SEVERELY INJURED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Stephen W. Fuller, 19-year-old St. Joseph's College football player, of Lansford, Pa., injured in Saturday's game with Albright College here, is in Misericordia Hospital today suffering from concussion of the brain and severely wrenched neck muscles. Fuller was carried from the field after a pileup, it being at first feared his neck was broken.

Thomas denied rumors that a movement was under way to demand the severing of Athletic relations with Albright.

America's business giants could provide jobs as leaders in Russia do, if they could levy taxes to pay the deficit.

Croton Eleven Ties Hearts, 0-0

Croton Surprises By Holding Strong Sacred Hearts To Deadlock

Croton eleven furnished the first surprise in the Independent football league by holding the strong Sacred Hearts to a 0-0 tie on the Lee avenue field before several thousand people.

Croton carried the ball to the 3-yard line in the opening quarter but could not score. The Hearts buckled up and were hard to penetrate. In the last quarter the Hearts had the ball on the 8-yard line and this time it was the Croton eleven that did the buckling up. Yargo, McIntosh, Alexander and Valentino starred for Croton while P. Ross, Richards and Ambrosia were the best for the Hearts.

The Hearts encounter a tough opponent next Saturday when they meet the South Side Williams All Stars at Scotland Lane.

The lineup:

Sacred Hearts 0		Croton 0
Mooney	L E	Yargo
Y. Marcella	L T	Smith
Delone	L G	McIntosh
Lemer	C	Lionella
P. Ross	R G	Isabelle
Richards	R T	Earthard
Bongivengo	R E	Morgan
DiThomas	Q B	Mills
Ambrosia	L H	Hartman
DiMuccio	R H	Robinson
Chill	F B	Nelson

Substitutions—Croton: Alexander, Valentino, Gibson, Frampton and Colaluca; Hearts, none.

Referee—Peg Thomas.

Umpire—Jack Resider.

THREE SPORT STAR

Mauno "Whitey" Siljander star halfback on the Westminster College football team, is one of the few three-sport stars in the district. Siljander has won letters in track as a javelin thrower, sprinter and broad jumper in basketball as a forward and this season reported for the football squad and made a varsity halfback berth. He is also an excellent swimmer and spent last summer as a life guard.

Elmo The Mighty To Box Tonight

Will Be Headliner In Boxing Show To Be Staged At Eagles Club

Elmo The Mighty, who a couple of years ago, was battling frequently at Castle Bowl, will make a brief return to the boxing arena, so to speak, this evening at the open meeting and entertainment to be staged at the Eagles Home on South Jefferrson street. His opponent on this occasion will be George Brown of Charleroi. Their contest will be feature of a program of four exhibition bouts to be staged at the Eagles Club tonight in connection with the meeting to be addressed by Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City.

Elmo the mighty, otherwise Elmo Clark, was always in action in the days that he followed boxing and those present at the entertainment tonight may be assured of seeing plenty of action, even if it is an exhibition bout. The other exhibitions will also be filled with action.

FOOTBALL MANAGERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store all football managers in the city-county grid league will meet. It is important that all managers attend this meeting. West Pittsburg is asked to have a representative present.

BOOTH'S RUN SETS NEW YALE RECORD

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 2.—Albie Booth, the little Yale captain, today held the Yale bowl record for distance run in scoring a touchdown. In Saturday's game against Dartmouth, Booth traveled 94 yards for the blue's opening score. The game ended a 33-33 tie.

Union And Freedom Play 6-6 Deadlock

Jaworski And McCall Furnish Fireworks In Fine Game At Taggart Field

Freedom Unable To Gain Through Union's Staunch Line — Penalties Hurt Locals

Union High School football team met a worthy foe Saturday in Freedom High. The game was played at Taggart Field, and resulted in a 6-6 deadlocked score. The Union slate is still clean, but with two tie games. The battle drew a fine crowd to Taggart Field.

Freedom High elected to receive the kickoff and was stopped in several plays at the Union line. Moore kicked to Union on the 35-yard line. Denney went through the line for five to the 40-yard line. Jaworski ripped off a long gain taking the ball to the Freedom 47-yard line. Augustyn went through center for five, and on the next play Jaworski slipped off tackle and raced 42 yards for the Union touchdown. The try for extra-point was blocked.

Jaworski Is Star

Soon after the ball was put in play after the touchdown, Jaworski intercepted a Freedom pass and on the next play slipped through for a 50-yard run that ended at the goal line, but Allen of Union was off-side and Union penalized.

On the next play after Jaworski's fine run that didn't count, Augustyn tried a pass and it was taken by McCall of Freedom who raced 42-yards for the touchdown through a broken field. The first quarter ended Union 6, Freedom 6.

At the start of the second quarter Coach Boyd of Union made many substitutions, sending Monico, Reynolds, and Endres into the game.

The entire second quarter was hard fought with neither team able to register any first downs, and it developed into a punting duel.

In the third quarter Union started with Union losing the ball on the 25-yard line. Union took a Freedom punt and again worked the ball down the field to the 20-yard line but lost it on downs. The third quarter ended with Freedom having the ball.

Frequent Fumbling

The fourth quarter turned out to be a fumbling contest with both teams making frequent miscues. The passes were bad and while the majority of play was in the Freedom territory Union was unable to shake off a backfield man for another touchdown. The end of the game found Union with the ball on the Freedom 15 yard line.

The high spots of the game show that Union drew 75 yards in penalties. In first downs Union had sixteen, and Freedom had but four. Union tried four passes and made good on one of them. Freedom tried six passes and made two of them good. Union carried the ball 71 times for yardage of 362. Freedom

Franklin Beats Ellwood City, 13-7

Ben Franklin Scores Scintillating Win Saturday Morning

BEN FRANKLIN IS UNDEFEATED

One of the most spectacular games of the season at Taggart stadium was played Saturday morning when the undefeated Benjamin Franklin junior high team scored a 13-7 victory over the Ellwood City Reserves. All 20 points were scored in the first quarter.

Hardly had the game started when Franklin pushed the oval over the goal line. Raskowski was downed on the 40-yard line. Tommelleo, on the first play, ran off-tackle for 15 yards. Nickum on the second play raced around end for 35 yards and this placed the ball on the 10-yard chalk mark. Majocka added two more yards through center. Majocka bucked the line for the first touchdown on the next play. He place-kicked successfully between the upright posts for the extra point. Score: Ellwood City 0; Ben Franklin 7.

Ellwood City took the ball on the kick-off and made a first down. On its second try for a second down Ellwood City was held on three plays and was forced to kick. The Tubers punted over the goal line and the ball was put in play on the 20-yard line. On the first play Majocka executed a 79-yard run through the center of the Ellwood City team and was brought down on the one-yard line. Pascarella plunged the line for the second touchdown. Majocka place-kicked for the extra point but the kick was wide. Ben Franklin 13; Ellwood Reserves 0.

It was but a short time following this touchdown until Ellwood City scored. Ellwood City took the ball on the kick-off and moved it to the 45-yard line. From here Strouse pulled a perfect sneak play on a double pass and raced the remaining 55 yards for the Ellwood City touchdown. He also scored the extra point through the line. The two teams tried desperately to score during the other three periods, but found the going tough. The final score favored Ben Franklin, 13-7.

It was the eighth straight victory for Franklin. Franklin closes its season next Thursday, when it battles the Sophomores for the interclass championship at Taggart stadium. The Sophomores are also undefeated. The Franklin band, under the direction of Miss Eva Coulter, was on hand to pep up the game.

The playing of Majocka and Tommelleo in the backfield featured for Franklin. On the line Billyk and Mitchell were the best. Strouse played well in the backfield for the Tubers. Offutt was the best on the line.

The line-up:

B. Franklin 13		Ellwood City 7
Cardella	L.E.	Benski
Shellogg	L.T.	Zeigler
Mitchell	L.G.	Abbatinsko
McKee	C.	Lover
Billyk	R.G.	Offutt

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 2,—One hundred more miners will return to work at the Mather mine as the result of a full time work schedule adopted for November, according to officials of the coal company today. The start of a six-day work schedule officials said, is the result of increased industrial activity in the Great Lakes region generally.

Bessemer Will Point For Game With Union High

Are Unscheduled For This Coming Week And Will Get Plenty Of Rest

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Pa., Nov. 2.—Bessemer high school came out of the Mercer fray in good condition and Coach J. H. Frederick, Jr., will start this week to prepare for the crucial contest with Union high school on Saturday, November 14.

Bessemer has no game for this week, due to a cancellation of the game which had been scheduled for this date a year ago, and will be idle Saturday. They will take a deep interest in the Union-Shenango contest, and in the event that Union defeats Shenango, will be playing the strong Union team for the class B championship of the county.

Bessemer made a fine record in the game against Mercer last Friday when they defeated the Mercer county champions by a score of 19-0.

Stanley's hip was loose and so was he, as he ran 55 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter; got loose to take a pass for a 30-yard gain later in the same period, which led to another touchdown, and intercepted a forward pass and broke for the goal in the last quarter, being stopped just inside the 15-yard line. He took it over a little later for Bessemer's third touchdown.

Mercer showed signs of strength in the first quarter and early in the second quarter, after which Bessemer broke up their passing attack and end runs, and began pushing them back.

Although Stanley scored all of Bessemer's touchdowns, he was given splendid assistance by Plevnic, Semonzo and Johnson. Plevnic's passes and kicks were a big factor in the victory, while Swanson played a great game on the line.

TURTLE CREEK SCORES IN OPENING QUARTER

Aside from that first quarter when Turtle Creek's attack baffled New Castle, the Coach Bridenbaugh team outplayed Turtle Creek.

For New Castle the playing of John and Nick Uram in the backfield featured while Ciccone and Thomas played the best on the line. For Turtle Creek, the playing of Westin and Bair proved a chief factor in the win.

From a spectator's standpoint the game was interesting in that there were no penalties, and no trouble. Both Turtle Creek and New Castle played hard football, but there was never any suggestion of dirty work. It was the kind of a game that you like to see and Turtle Creek should remain on the schedule.

New Castle was represented by about 300 fans at the game, practically all of whom went in automobiles. The school yard of the Turtle Creek Union high school was reserved for the New Castle people, with officers detailed to watch them. It was a courtesy that was appreciated as the hilly country in Turtle Creek puts parking space at a premium.

Following the game the Turtle Creek band, the drum corps and the student body paraded through the town, celebrating the first victory ever scored over New Castle. In 1923 the two teams battled to a 14-14 tie at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, in the semi-finals of the W. P. I. A. L. championship. In 1930 New Castle defeated Turtle Creek 6-0 on Taggart Field and the Miller coached lads returned the compliment Saturday afternoon.

The lineup;

New Castle 0.		Turtle Creek 6.
Ciccone	L.E.	Stewart
Crisci (C.)	L.T.	Starke
Ostrosky	L.G.	S. Uram

FIRE IN APARTMENTS IS PUT OUT SUNDAY

An overheated smoke pipe burned wall paper in the Davis apartments, 1130 South Mill street at 7 a. m. Sunday. Central and Fifth ward firemen responded. The fire was put out quickly without any damage, it is reported.

Getting the Sack!

School boys of Lower California must consider games like football much too effeminate. They risk their lives in a game of their own invention called "getting the sack," a game which demands the greatest equestrian skill and daring. This unusually snappy photo shows one of the sensational players leaning from his racing mount at a precarious angle to get the sack during one of the exciting competitions staged at Ojai, California.

Several Team Records Fall On Saturday

Several perfectly good championship booms were badly frost bitten Saturday afternoon when the Mill of the Football Gods ground out some of the contenders. After viewing the wreckage of Saturday afternoon's tussles, there are few teams that stand out as possible champions. In the east Cornell and Harvard can still argue championship claims and in the midwest Notre Dame and Northwestern have defeated everybody but each other. Tennessee and Georgia in the South refuse to be counted out as yet.

Following the lead of previous Saturdays there were some startling upsets and Westminster College came close to furnishing one of these. Thought to be hopelessly outclassed against Waynesburg, the Titans held them to a 7-6 score which is more than just something. Waynesburg defeated Penn State and while beating Penn State isn't so tough this season, it isn't considered good form for the Class B boys.

Oregon Upsets N. Y. U.

Perhaps the worst upset of the day was that of Oregon and New York University. Oregon had played in and out ball on the West Coast, had taken a licking from Southern California and was expected to lose to New York. Instead the lads from the great open spaces plumb ruined a good season for the Gothamites by a score of 14-6, which adds to Pop Warner's statement that the best foot ball is played on the Pacific Coast.

Notre Dame did the expected against Carnegie Tech, winning by a 19-0 score and Pitt twisted the Nittany Lions tail 41-6. That could hardly be considered twisting the tail. Tearing it off would be much closer to the truth.

Allegheny and Grove City went nowhere with each other, each scoring 7 points. Bethany finally found somebody they could beat and did a thorough job with Fairmount, winning 33-0. Thiel defeated St. Vincents 6-0, but Geneva found the going too rough against Franklin and Marshall, losing 20-0.

A Weird Score

Yale and Dartsmouth demonstrated just how weird a score could be piled up in one game, tieing 33-33, and Tuss McLaughery's Brown team took a terrific pounding from Holy Cross, 33-0, the first licking of the year. Bo McMillan's Kansas Aggies hung a shanty on West Virginia 19-0 adding to Greasy Neal's already heavy burden of woe this season.

Gloomy Gil Doble's job seems safe at Cornell for another year. Cornell has lost regularly every Friday, according to the Gloomy one's prognostications, but has managed to win every Saturday. This time it was the undefeated Columbia team that took it, 13-0.

Pennsylvania continued its winning streak by scoring a field goal over Lafayette. Penn is undefeated thus far this season, but has to meet Notre Dame yet. Michigan was expected to defeat Princeton and did, 21-0, and Army had a vacation against Colorado, 27-0. Harvard had an easy victim in Virginia 19-0 and Colgate beat Mississippi 27-0. The Navy and West Virginia Wesleyan tied 0-0.

Southern Games

In the sunny South, Alabama took Kentucky by a 9-7 score. Georgia defeated Florida 33-6. Southern Methodist defeated Texas 9-7 and Tennessee romped over Duke 25-2. The Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech was not even a zephyr against Vanderbilt the Vans winning 49-7.

In the Big Ten Northwestern continued its drive for national honors and Pug Rentner continued his claim for All American recognition, Northwestern defeating Illinois 32-6. Ohio State defeated Iowa 13-6, Purdue defeated Chicago 14-6. Nebraska defeated Missouri, 10-7, and Minnesota defeated Wisconsin 14-0. As far as the Big Ten championship is concerned there seems no doubt that Northwestern has it in the bag.

FORMER BUSINESS MAN HERE IS DEAD IN HOUSTON, TEX.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Levine, 430 East Winter avenue, have received word of the death of Louis Levin of Houston, Tex., former New Castle and Sharon business man who left this vicinity about 25 years ago to settle in the southwest.

Levin died Saturday morning from pneumonia. He was sixty years of age. At the time of his residence here he was well known in the city and nearby points. His daughter, Gertrude, a newspaper women of Houston recently concluded a short stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levine on East Winter avenue.

The deceased is survived by his children, Gertrude, Hannah, Joyce, Zipra, and a son, Abe. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Levine of this city and Mrs. J. Rubenson of Youngstown, formerly of this city.

JEFFERSON COUNTY LEADER IS CALLED

(International News Service)

BROOKVILLE, Pa., Nov. 2.—Funeral arrangements were being made here today for Samuel S. Hunderson, 76, leading banker of Jefferson county for nearly half a century, who died at his home here following an operation performed late Saturday.

The banker was active in business circles until a few days before his death. He was president of the Pocahontas Lumber Company and of the Dilltown Smokeless Coal Company, as well as a director of the Brookville National Bank. For many years he was prominent in Republican party councils.

VIGILANT COMPANY

Vigilant Hook and Ladder Company, central station's volunteer fire organization, will meet at the station house for a regular monthly meeting tonight.

Grove City And Allegheny Tie

Classic Battle At Grove City Ends In 7-7 Score

BOTH TEAMS SCORE IN FINAL PERIOD

GROVE CITY, Pa., Nov. 2.—Grove City and Allegheny in their annual gridiron classic of northwestern Pennsylvania colleges both completed long passes for touchdowns in the final stanza of the game played here on College field Saturday afternoon, and the game ended a seven-point deadlock.

The Crimson scored first, taking the ball on the Methodists' 46-yard line. Alexander whipped to Smith for a 10-yard gain. Smith broke through the blue and gold defense for a five-yard advance. On the next play the fans got their first big thrill of the game in the pass of Alexander to Beres for touchdown.

With the game well spent in time the visitors began their march to touchdown, using a well planned aerial attack. It was Allegheny's ball on the 40-yard line on the kick-off. The first pass involved a forward and lateral employing Berger to Garbark to Varano for 20 yards.

Short Pass Scores.

A pass, Berger to Garbark, for 18 put the Methodists within striking distance. Berger passed to Horne, who caught the call on the goal line for touchdown. Both teams had been well coached in passes and from the number used evidently had planned on this medium of scoring. Allegheny had 11 first downs. They completed seven out of 14 passes for 105 yards. Grove City had seven first downs, completing six out of 13 passes for 99 yards.

The game presented the usual colorful background given by the student bodies. Allegheny was accompanied to the game with a cheering delegation of 500 headed by a band. College colors, flowers and well dressed co-eds of both schools made the event distinctly collegiate.

"Bullet Trolleys" Newest Wrinkle

Will Hurtle Commuters To Work At Speed Of Eighty Miles Per Hour

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The commuters who travel between this city and Norristown and Strafford, Pa., soon will be able to get that extra wink of sleep without the worry of having to rush to get their train. "Bullet Trolleys" are to be installed by the Philadelphia and Western Railway, which will cover the 14 miles between here and Norristown in 16 minutes.

The new high speed trains will be built of aluminum and steel for lightness and strength and equipped with non-shatterable glass.

The trains will be capable of reaching a safety speed of 80 miles per hour, according to officials of the company.

Each car will accommodate 56 passengers.

MORE JOBS GIVEN TO COAL MINERS

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 2.—One hundred additional miners will be given employment at the Mather mine, of the Mather Pickands Collieries Company, as result of a full time work schedule which has been received for November, following an increase in industrial activity in the great lakes region.

A six-day work schedule, to remain in effect until at least following the Thanksgiving day holidays, will be inaugurated. Six hundred men are now on the company's payroll, 500 of whom have been working on a part-time basis.

COMMISSIONERS TO SEEK BRIDGE BIDS

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 2.—Butler county commissioners have decided to advertise for bids for repairing or replacing several county bridges, the bids to be in at their office in the court house by not later than 11:30 a. m., November 10, next.

Bids will be asked for the following bridges:

Ditmer bridge, Clay township; Brown bridge, Forward township; Seaton bridge, Mercer township; Bonnie Brook bridge, Summit township; Hilliard bridge, Washington township, and West Winters bridge, Penn township.

GREAT GRID TEAMS OF THE PAST

BY BILL RITT

No. 6

PITT COMES TO POWER—1916

Shortly before the World war put an end to Carlisle Indian school, Coach Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, who had brought the small government institution to football greatness, saw that Carlisle was doomed to extinction and when offered a coaching contract by the University of Pittsburgh accepted.

From that moment dates the rise of Pittsburgh to the football heights. The story of the Panthers pigskin power is the story of the Warner-Sutherland dynasty at Pittsburgh. Dr. John Bain Sutherland was the star pupils of Warner, a star teacher, and when Warner took his grid gospel to Stanford and the west coast, Sutherland stepped in and has continued the production of great Pittsburgh teams.

Pitt has had many fine teams, including those recent ones on which Gibby Welch, Joe Donchess, Pug Parkinson, Tony Uansa sparkled and the current team which has Ralph Daugherty and Jim MacMurdo, but the prize should go to Warner's second squad, the 1916 eleven.

This 1916 team was so good that Walter Camp called it the best he had ever seen, and Warner rates it but a shade under the magnificent 1930 Notre Dame team.

Warner, having left Carlisle, took charge of Pittsburgh in 1915 and turned out an unbeaten team in his first year. Virtually all the stars of that eleven were back in school, bigger, more experienced, in 1916.

At center was the great Bob Peck, All-American. One of the tackles was Claude (Tiny) Thornhill, another giant All-American. Alongside the famous Pack in the line was Jock Sutherland, a brilliant guard. The ends were those two matched stars, Cliff Carlson and Pat Herron.

Behind this impenetrable wall crouched Quarterback Morrow, a trigger-brained field leader. His tools were Andy Hastings, a sure passer and kicker; Jim De Hart, a snake-hipped ball carrier, and roaring, raging George McLaren, the line cracker.

This outfit was so good that Len Hilty, later an All-American, and such stars as Bill McClelland and Skip Gougler had to decorate the bench a good part of the time!

Pitt had won 10 straight games before the 1916 season began—two in 1914 and eight under Warner in 1915. Pitt was to run this string of victories to 33—it was snapped by Syracuse in 1919—and to go unbeaten through 1917 and the short four-game 1918 season, but the Panthers rose to their greatest heights in '16.

Westminster was the 1916 warm-up, Pitt winning, 57-0. Then came Navy. This was really the crucial game of the year for Pitt, though it came early in October. The Sailors were lit for bear. They had everything that day. But Pittsburgh fought like 11 maddened Panthers. And proved to have just a little bit more than Navy. At game's end the Panthers had won, 20-19.

From the struggle, though the schedule was studded with star teams, the season was just a breeze for Pittsburgh. Not another point was scored by opponents!

Syracuse fell, 30-0; Penn crumbled, 20-0; Allegheny was a 46-0 workout; Washington and Jefferson was the victim of a 37-0 massacre. Carnegie Tech, eternal disputant with the Panthers over Smoky City pigskin supremacy, held the Cats to two touchdowns, losing 14-0.

Penn State was the last jewel in the Panther crown of victory, a 31-0 sparkler.

What a team! Winning by a point its hardest game in early October this eleven went on to smash five more major opponents. That was Pittsburgh—1916!

Firemen To Take Day's Vacation But Minus Pay

Pittsburgh's 1,100 Firemen Will Take Day Off Without Pay Each Week

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2.—Pittsburgh's 1,100 firemen, from Chief Richard Smith down, will take one day off each week without pay for the remainder of the year, Smith announced today.

Heretofore, each fireman has had two days off with pay each month. All members of the force will continue this practice, Smith said, and will also take the two days without pay. This will prevent depletion of the force, the Chief said.

Motorists Safe In Triple Collision

Cars Damaged When Woman's Auto Sideswipes Sedan On Perry Highway

Two men and a woman whose cars figured in a triple collision on the Perry Highway at Scott township escaped injuries after their machines were damaged at noon Sunday.

The mishap occurred, according to the report of the State Highway Patrol, after a sedan driven by Mrs. Mae E. Sullivan, Larchmont road, Buffalo, N. Y. attempted to pass a sedan driven by George Mallinak, New Castle R. D. 4, while both were travelling north.

The woman's auto sideswiped Mallinak, and the latter, trying to avoid hitting the Buffalo car, hit a coach driven by Joseph L. Byer, Linesville Crawford county, who was travelling in the opposite direction.

All three cars were slightly damaged, but their drivers remained unhurt.

KOPPEL

L. H. Hennig was elected the Chief de gare at the regular monthly session of the Beaver County Voiture, No. 739 La Societe des 40 homes at 8 cheveaus held at the American Legion Post at Monaca Thursday evening. J. L. Blair also from Koppel was elected to office of conductor.

Miss Inez Petti was a pleasing hostess to a group of friends that gathered at her parent's home Thursday evening. The guests came to the party masked. The home was prettily decorated according to the season. A delicious lunch was served the guests by their hostess who was assisted by her mother.

Joseph Cearfoss was host to many friends at a Hallowe'en party held Thursday evening. The party was given in the main room of the Koppel restaurant which was prettily decorated in keeping with the season's holiday. The guests were served a delicious lunch at a late hour.

Many Koppel people attended the masquerade party which was held at the Big Beaver Grange Friday evening. Some of those who attended were; Rev. and Mrs. S. L. Burson, Mrs. A. Wetzel, Clarence Bates, Misses Marie Lanigan, Jeanette Lanigan, Margaret Gasser, and Evelyn McCarthy.

DISLOCATES THUMB IN FALL SATURDAY

Mrs. Charles Longacre, Lathrop street, went to the court house Saturday to secure a hunting license for her husband and after getting this she started down the steps and in some manner tripped and fell to the bottom, dislocating her thumb on the right hand and otherwise bruising herself.

AN ORDINANCE

Establishing a stand on the Central Square for coaches, buses, automobiles and other vehicles for hire; and to impose the obligations and use thereof; and providing penalties.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, That all parking of automobiles is prohibited on the north side of Central Square between North Jefferson Street and Diamond Alley; and the north side of the said Central Square between the said points is hereby established as a stand for coaches, buses, automobiles and other vehicles for hire and having certificates of public convenience.

SECTION 2. It shall be unlawful for any vehicle having a certificate of publice convenience to park or stand on the north side of the said Public Square between the said points, except for the time that the passengers are being admitted or discharged from the said vehicle. Every carrier of passengers for hire in the City of New Castle shall be required to provide an adequate private place for the storage of its vehicles during the time that they lie over between arrival and departure in the City of New Castle and it shall be unlawful for any such vehicle to stand upon any of the public streets of the said City of New Castle except when passengers are actually being admitted or discharged therefrom.

SECTION 3. The Chief of Police and his officers shall have authority to make such reasonable rules and regulations as may seem just and reasonable for the regulation of the said bus stand, and shall erect such signs and make such markings on the street as are necessary to guard against parking in the said stand, and to give notice of the rules and regulations there in force; and any person who shall violate any of the said rules and regulations shall be guilty of violation of this ordinance.

SECTION 4. The bus stand or stands hereby created shall be open and free for the use of all vehicles for hire having a certificate of public convenience from the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and no discrimination shall be allowed either by the Police Department or any other bus owner against any bus or other vehicle having such a certificate.

SECTION 5. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction therefor before the Mayor or any Alderman of the City of New Castle, be subject to the payment of a fine of not more than Three Hundred ($300.00) Dollars and costs of prosecution; and upon failure to pay the fine or costs, to imprisonment in the county jail for a period not more than ninety (90) days. The Police Department of the City, or any officer thereof, shall have authority to take in charge and hold in some proper and adequate place any bus or other vehicle found to be violating any provision of this ordinance, until the fine imposed upon the owner of the said bus or vehicle has been paid and until all proper storage charges are paid on the said bus or vehicle for the time it is in the custody of the said City. When any such vehicle is stored in a private garage or other place, the charge therefor shall be paid by the City and collected from the owner of the said vehicle.

State of Pennsylvania, County of Lawrence, City of New Castle, ss:

I, Cordelia Zeigler Jones, City Clerk of the City of New Castle, Pa., do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance was passed finally by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., October 30, 1931, signed by the Mayor and attested by the City Clerk.

In witness wherof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of the said City of New Castle, this 30th day of October, A. D. 1931.

CORDELIA ZEIGLER JONES,
City Clerk.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Moderate Upturn In Stock Market

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Industrial stocks took the lead in a moderate upturn in prices in the early trading on the big board today. A buoyant feeling in the financial district was stimulated by the forecasts of "dollar wheat" and a rise in crude oil to 85 cents a barrel. This compares with 20 cents a barrel a few months ago.

New gains of a point or more in a number of the Standard and independent oils brought prices from 2 to 4 points above the low levels of last week. The Standards of New Jersey and California sold around 45, compared with last week's low price of 31⅛. Houston Oil reached a new peak at 31½. And fractional gains were recorded for the Independents like Sinclair, Continental, Phillips, Barnsdall and Shell Union, all of which sell under $10 a share.

The rails were side-tracked for the time being, in favor of the industrials and utilities. United States Steel forged ahead 1⅛ to 69. J. I. Case, Sears Roebuck, DuPont and American Tel. and Tel. advanced 1 to 2½ points. Paramount and Loews led the activity in the amusements, Paramount crossing 16 for the first time on the move and Loews pushing ahead to 41½ on its favorable earnings statement.

As expected, Socony Vacuum declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, putting the stock on an annual dollar dividend basis, against $1.60 for the Old Standard of New York. The stock was well bought fractionally under 15.

The whole market marked time in the second hour, but prices were well maintained. The rails fell off fractionally and trading in the utilities slowed down considerably. Aggressive buying of wheat futures forced prices up a cent a bushel, but cotton was inclined to sag. Call money was in supply at 2½ per cent.

Spectators At Toledo Trial Barred Today

Judge Killits Will Continue In Libel Suit In Secret, Result Of Order

ALL REPORTERS ASKED TO LEAVE

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2—In a lengthy decision read when court was reopened, Judge John M. Killits, presiding at the trial of Nan Britton's suit for $50,000 damages against C. A. Klunk, of Marion, O., charging libel, today barred all spectators from the courtroom.

Judge Killits stated that 'in the interests of public morals" he had decided to continue the trial in secret, and ordered everyone except those attending in an official capacity, ejected from the courtroom.

Reporters Ousted

The ejection order included newspapermen, and when the trial resumed after a 10-minute recess, only those persons directly connected with the hearing were permitted inside the courtroom.

The court criticized the spectators for attending the trial in such large numbers, and declared that they came only to "satisfy a morbid curiosity."

Last week Judge Killits ordered all minors removed from the courtroom because of the type of testimony to be presented. He said today that he had hoped the action in removing the minors would cause some of the adults to refrain from attending the trial.

Continue Case Against Cannon

Bishop Cannon Challenges Constitutionality Of Federal Corrupt Practices Act

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., challenged the constitutionality of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act today when arraigned before Justice James M. Proctor of an indictment charging him with violation of the act in failing to report large funds used by him in directing the campaign against Al Smith in 1928.

Justice Proctor took Bishop Cannon's demurrer under advisement and continued the case until Nov. 20.

Bishop Cannon appeared in court with his crutch.

Miss Ada L. Burroughs, a secretary, who was named with him in the indictment, did not appear.

Recommend That Judge Wilkerson Receive Promotion

Senator Glenn, Illinois, Recommends Higher Court Bench For Chicago Jurist

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—The promotion of Federal Judge Wilkerson, who sentenced Al Capone to jail, to the seventh circuit court of appeals, was recommended to Attorney General Mitchell Saturday by Senator Glenn (R) of Illinois.

"There isn't much news in my recommendation of Judge Wilkerson," said Glenn later, "because I have recommended him for the same promotion a number of times in the past. I conferred with the attorney general on judgeship matters and while doing so I recommended Judge Wilkerson for the higher court."

Glenn said he discussed "other judgeship matters" with the attorney general but made no other recommendations.

Runaway Russian Boy Owns Czar's Treasures

Fine Example of Life's Ironies Furnished by Story of Morris Gest, Famous Theatrical Producer of New York.

Barred from his native Russia in 1905 because of anti-czarist sentiments, Morris Gest, son-in-law of the late David Belasco, now can declare with satisfaction that the affront has been wiped out. Gest had fled Russia for America when a lad of nine because his early dislike of the czarist regime had taken the form of thumbing his nose at a picture of the Emperor which adorned the wall of his schoolroom. Today, a successful theatre magnate, Mr. Gest lives and works in rooms furnished entirely with pieces that were once the pride of the imperial Romanoffs. Pictures show Mr. Gest in his study and several fine pieces of the goldsmith's art that were the property of the late Czar Nicholas. Even now agents of the producer are scouring Russia for other treasures to add to the unique collection.

Martial Law For Oklahoma Bridge

Governor Murray Again Declares Martial Law For Approach To State Free Bridge

(International News Service)

DURANT, Okla., Nov. 2.—Undaunted in his determination to defy all efforts to close the Dennison-Durant State free bridge over the Red river, Gov. W. H. Murray today again declared martial law by posting troops at the bridge to keep it open.

It was the third time in four months that the bridge zone had been under martial law regulations and the second time in eight days.

The drastic action was taken by Gov. Murray in anticipation of issuance of a federal court injunction sought by operators of a parallel toll bridge against operation of the free bridge.

Man Threatens To Shoot Up Dance Hall—Is Held By Police Under $500 Bond

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 2.—His very definite musical preferences today had brought Nick Turko, 33, of Bentleyville, to the jail house here under $500 bond for violating the new Witkin firearms law, following what police said was an attempt to "shoot up the town."

According to authorities, Turko went to a hall in Bentleyville where a dance was in progress. Brandishing a revolver, he announced the orchestra would next play an Austrian march—unless they wanted to act as targets.

The orchestra, having no music of the desired type, left through the windows. Turko was taken into custody by Police Cheif Frank Wertz after allegedly firing several shots.

Ten Armed Men Rob Chicago Bank

WOMAN IS FOUND BADLY MUTILATED

In Fourth Confession Girl Lays Blame On Husband As Plotter Of Crime

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD, International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—A prosaic figure, a 19-year-old servant girl today held the spotlight in a murder mystery which for sheer gruesomeness and horror outfictions fiction.

The domestic Clara Fish, stated in a third confession to police that she killed Mrs. Reba Maddux, 35 year old housewife by slashing her throat twice with a razor after Mrs. Maddux had administered ether to herself in a suicide attempt and then tried to cut her own throat. Miss Fish was a roomer in the Maddux home.

A few hours later in a fourth confession the domestic laid the blame for the killing on Walter Maddux, 35-year-old 27-dollar a week employee of a chemical plant. Miss Fish declared in the fourth confession that she had decoyed the unsuspecting housewife to a lonely wooded spot near Sugar Creek lane on the outskirts of Kirkwood, fashionable St. Louis suburb, and getting the woman in a prone position sat on her and administered ether to her.

Slits Wife's Throat

The servant left the woman there in an unconscious state she told police in her latest confession and reported her work to the husband with whom she had plotted the woman's death. Maddux returned to the spot that night and slit his wife's throat, the girl's confession stated.

The woman's body was found Friday afternoon by a negro gathering firewood. The head was nearly decapitated from the body by three razor slashes. A nicked razor and an open ether can were found nearby. Parts of the razor blade were found in the woman's mutilated neck.

Starts Navy "War"

William Howard Gardiner (above), president of the Navy League, Washington, D. C., whose biting criticism of President Hoover's plan for economy in the U. S. Navy has brought two rebukes from the White House and the statement that the President expects an apology from Gardiner. The Navy League head declared Mr. Hoover showed "abysmal ignorance" in naval affairs.

HUNDRED GIRLS ATTEND SERVICE

Golden Jubilee Week Of Girl Reserves Commences Yesterday

Over 100 Girl Reserves of this city attended the Sunday vesper service at the First Methodist church at 7:45 last evening. This group, representing the clubs of the Girl Reserve department of the Y. W. C. A., formed a processional at the start of the service, presenting an impressive appearance in their blue and white uniforms.

The program, consisting of organ selections, hymns, prayers and sermon, was appropriate to the occasion and several Girl Reserves had an active part in it.

Their attendance at the service was in observance of the commencement of Jubilee week, the fiftieth anniversary of work with young people in the Y. W. C. A.

HIGHLAND LINE'S TRIPPER MISSED BY RIDERS TODAY

To trolley riders on the Highland avenue line who missed their tripper car this morning and had to wait for the 15 minute run cars instead T. C. Moore, superintendent of the railways explains that the delay was caused by the absence of the driver and the subsequent delay in schedule.

As a last resort the world might wreck the war business by selling stock in it.
